Big Four Meeting Slows to Walk Molotov Dissents

Fails to Reach Agreement on Inspectorate For Italy in Connection With Peace Treaty

PARIS, May 1 (CP).—The Foreign Ministers' Conference slowed to a walk today with the Big Four failing to reach agreement on an Allied inspectorate for Italy, which had been considered one of the least controversial issues in connection with an Italian peace treaty.

This was the second consecutive meeting in which difficulties have arisen and the optimism raised by Monday's progressive session—in which Russia withdrew her remands for trusteeship of Tripolitania—showed signs of diminishing.

British sources said Foreign Secretary Bevin brought up the question of an Allied inspectorate which the Big Four agreement of last September said should be established to enforce the clauses of the peace treaty until Italy is accepted as a reliable member of the United Nations.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, of France, and State Secretary Byrnes, of the United States, supported the plan but Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister, suddenly dissented. Mr Molotov said that for a long time Russia had doubted the desirability of such Allied control machinery when efforts were being made to re-establish the sovereignty of Italy.

The unexpected Soviet interest in the future welfare of Italy caused surprise at the conference table. It may foreshadow some new Russian policy towards Italy from whom Russia is demanding $300,000,000 in reparations.

Settlement of the South Tyrol question, it was contended, would involve a major rectification, for it would mean extending the Austrian border into what now is Italian territory for 60 miles south of the Brenner Pass.

In an effort to speed up the conference the Foreign Ministers had planned to meet twice today. But the going was so difficult at the morning session that the scheduled afternoon meeting was canceled. They will try again tomorrow to hold two sessions for unsettled or deferred questions which are piling up on the agenda.

Predictions were heard that the conference must continue for at least another two weeks if it is to achieve any real measure of success.

One in Four Canadians In Red Cross

Record Enrollment Now Is 3,000,000

TORONTO, May 1 (CP) — One in every four Canadians is a member of the Canadian Red Cross, Dr. F. W. Routley, of Toronto, national commissioner today told the annual meeting of the society which has more than 3,000,000 members, a record enrolment.

Wartime contributions to the Canadian Red Cross exceeded $80,000,000, he stated. Campaign and publicity costs were 2.8 per cent of the total collected. Administration costs on total expenditures of nearly $100,000,000 were 3.4 per cent.

Some 10,310,592 prisoner-of-war food parcels were packed voluntarily by 2,500 women and a large number of men at a cost of $46,069,670. In addition the Red Cross sent to prisoners of war tobacco and cigarettes, hundreds of thousands of books of all kinds, $100,000 worth of hand instruments and quantities of special medical supplies.

Canadian also made more than 50,000,000 articles of hospital supplies, comforts and relief clothing contributed 2,238,000 blood donations, sent overseas 2,460,545 pounds of jam and honey and provided the people of Great Britain with 12,000,000 articles of comforts and supplies, 250 ambulances, 38 mobile kitchens, 40 trailer kitchens and 30 utility vans.

The society presented four honorary counsellorships and 142 honorary membership for outstanding Red Cross service. Among honorary counsellorships was one to Mrs. H. Ramsden, provincial chairman for British Columbia throughout the war and a member of the society since the Great War.

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province

LONDON, May 1—Commending the report by the Anglo-American committee of inquiry into the Palestine affairs, The Times declared editorially today if the report is adopted by Britain and the United States, its translation into action cannot be successfully challenged.

No doubt, in the present temper of Arabs and Jews alike, it will be bitterly attacked from both sides. But partisan criticism, says The Times, no matter how sincere, must not be allowed to disguise the honest impartiality of the findings, or to prejudice the possibility which they offer of steady progressive resolution of the two problems which at present obstruct rehabilitation both in Europe and the Middle East.

No threats of violence, no organized terrorism, can be allowed to frustrate action along the lines suggested. Arabs and Jews are offered a new opportunity for co-operation and advancement of both communities, and they are offered it in a report that is likely to represent the predominant part of interested world opinion.

Recommendations of the report are notable, the paper says, for their clear acknowledgment the twin problems of Jewish distress in Europe and the position of the Jews in Palestine both involve a responsibility that can only be discharged by a joint effort on the part of the United Nations involving fearless application of certain general principles.

The attempt has thus been made to lift the issue above the partisan level of those who support the Zionist creed and of those who oppose it. The report will disappoint extremists on either side, but the more carefully it is studied, the more it will be seen the committee has discharged the task entrusted to it in a manner certain to shape international policy.

Arabs May Tie Up Middle East Fight Against Palestine Report

JERUSALEM, May 1 (CP). — The Arab Higher Committee called tonight for a general strike of all Arabs in Palestine, Friday, and moved to tie up the entire Middle East by asking other Arab countries to join the walkout.

The strike call for Palestine Arabs was issued by the committee "as a first step to show our utmost dissatisfaction" with the Anglo-American Inquiry Committee's report on Palestine which urges the immediate admittance of 100,000 European Jews into the Holy Land.

Jewish speakers at May Day rallies also assailed the report except for its recommendation to permit the immigration of the 100,000 Jews.

In its fight against the report the Arab Higher Committee decided to send delegates to the other Arab countries to press for pan-Arabic action and particularly the support of the Arab League. Further, the committee said it would cable protests to Governments which are members of the United Nations.

LONDON, May 1 (CP). —Britain bid today for United States military and financial aid to carry out a joint policy in Palestine, as an uproar of protest over the Anglo-American Inquiry Committee report threatened to erupt in violence.

Prime Minister Attlee said Britain wanted to know "to what extent the United States Government would be prepared to share the resultant military and financial responsibilities" for administration of Palestine which the British inherited as a League of Nations mandate.

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP).—Britain's suggestion that the United States give military and financial aid in preventing violence in Palestine drew quick opposition among Congressmen today with a possibility it may hasten creation of a United Nations agency to govern international territories.

In a Congress which has demonstrated its intention to keep foreign military commitments to a security minimum, some members express belief Britain should turn to the United Nations—rather than to the United States—for any military aid.

Padre Plans Long Cruise

REV. JOHN ANTLE

Who sailed his 48-foot cutter, Reverie, from Liverpool to Victoria in 1930, is preparing to weigh anchor from Vancouver, this time for the Caribbean Sea. The padre-mariner is 81.

His crew will be 28-year-old Mrs. Nora da Costa, of Metchosin, B.C., veteran of six years' overseas with the R.C.A.F. (W.D.)

They will leave this Summer on an 8,000-mile cruise in the West Indies, where Mr. Antle intends to do some writing.

Pipe May Day Marchers to Beacon Hill Park

BAGPIPES skirled down Douglas Street as some 350 workers, chiefly from C.C.L. unions, paraded to Beacon Hill Park for yesterday's May Day rally. Above picture shows several members of Balmoral Girls' Pipe Band, who led the parade.

Following behind came marching men and women with banners, and several floats. Banner slogans included demands for a 40-hour week and increases in pay. Some East Indians were among the marchers, carrying banners demanding the franchise and a poster drawing attention to famine in India.

In keeping with the cosmopolitan nature of Labor's traditional celebration day was a group of Russian seamen who stood at the entrance to the park. "No speak English," they said smilingly when questioned.

Drew Sums Up Stand by Ilsley Now Can Take It or Leave It

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP) — Discussions of the Dominion-Provincial Conference became deadlocked today, with Federal authorities and Provincial Premiers standing by positions they have taken during the current public meeting.

There was no indication at adjournment whether the concessions necessary before agreement can be reached would be made by either side. Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec announced he was ready to go home unless the Federal Government was prepared to change its proposals.

The deadlock was reached after Finance Minister Ilsley announced on behalf of the Federal Government it could go no further in its proposals to meet the demands as put forward by the provinces, because of the heavy increase in commitments such a move would entail.

His speech, in the words of Premier George Drew of Ontario, was a "bald declaration" to the provinces that "we can take it or leave it" as far as the Federal proposals were concerned. Mr. Drew went on to say that while Ontario was not adopting an arbitrary attitude it was not prepared to accept the Federal offers as they now stood.

Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan urged that the conference return to private sittings and attempt to work out an agreement.

Two main points had emerged, he said.

The first was that those who believed that wealth which came from national undertakings and policies belonged to Canada as a whole and that it should be used to maintain certain minimum standards.

In conflict, however, was the view of those who believed that the wealth raised in certain favored provinces belonged in main to the residents of those provinces.

Ontario in January had proposed that both the provinces and the Dominion collect income, corporation and succession taxes and that from provincial revenues 10 per cent be taken to establish a national adjustment fund. This would be used to help less favored provinces on a basis of fiscal need to meet certain minimum standards.

Now Ontario agreed to drop out of the income and corporation fields but did not explain where the 10 per cent would come from to maintain the adjustment fund she had again proposed Monday.

He took it that the 10 per cent would have to come from the income and corporation taxes the Dominion would be allowed to collect exclusively.

But his quarrel was not with the administration of the fund.

"I'm objecting to the principle in its entirety."

He believed that all taxes collected or affected by national policies should be used for national maximum benefits.

Huge Parade In Moscow For May Day

By The Canadian Press

Millions of workers around the globe paraded or demonstrated Wednesday in celebration of May Day.

Two bombs exploded in Madrid, wrecking luxury food stores. In Trieste, more than 50,000 Yugoslavs marched, shouting "viva Tito, viva Stalin."

Fascist die-hards made forays against Communist headquarters and Communist-Socialist newspapers in Rome. One group burst into a radio station and forced the broadcast of "Giovinezza," their outlawed hymn.

In Moscow, soldiers and civilians paraded for six hours through Red Square, past Generalissimo Stalin.

In Tokio, some 400,000 Japanese celebrated May Day for the first time in 11 years.

In New York, thousands of labor union workers marched down Eighth Avenue.

Protests against British aid to "Dutch imperialism" were shouted in Singapore by 25,000 Malayans, Chinese and Indonesians. Withdrawal of "imperialist troops" from Burma was demanded at a Rangoon rally.

In Berlin, several hundred thousand German workers marched behind Red banners. About 500,000 Frenchmen paraded in Paris.

Britain's socialists will observe May Day, Sunday.

Cowichan to Own Waterworks Unit

(Special to The Colonist)

LAKE COWICHAN, May 1—By a vote of 90 to 5, property owners of Lake Cowichan passed a $35,000 waterwork loan by-law. Village commissioners headed by W. F. Grosskleg will purchase the Cowichan water system and two others owned by Stanley Gordon and G. Olson.

New pipes will be laid to serve the district and make running water available to a number of outside residents who at present rely upon wells.

People Still Move on May 1 Despite Shortage of Homes

It was moving day across Canada yesterday.

Although not as busy as in pre-war years, Victoria movers yesterday were flooded with orders. The fact that there is a housing shortage did not seem to affect the situation.

People are moving just the same, H. J. Applegate, general manager of Stocker's Transfer Co., Ltd., said yesterday.

The number moving out of the city, he added, nearly balanced those who were moving in. "The numbers are small."

It was also reported many people who have recently sold homes are storing furniture and moving into housekeeping rooms or apartments until they can find other places. In some cases, it was explained, these people are waiting for new homes to be completed.

"Where they are getting the apartments is the $64 question," another mover said.

Vancouver moving firms were busier than usual, but it's the same story as in the rest of the country—movings arranged far in advance to places that have been taken months previously.

May 1 has been observed as moving day, not by way of superstition, but because of practical reasons. The date has been more or less set as a basis for leases, and the approach of May usually brings fine weather.

Privy Council Faces Puzzle In Odd Appeal

LONDON, May 1 (Reuters) — Srimati Bibhabati Devi Ranee of Bhowal, in eastern Bengal, appealed in the Privy Council today against a Calcutta court decision that her husband had escaped from his 1909 funeral pyre and could claim his estate and income.

Kumar Ramendra Narayan Roy began suit for what he claimed to be his wife estate and income in 1916. He alleged he was the victim of a murder plot by his wife and brother-in-law at Darjeeling in 1909.

Some 1,069 witnesses including elephant boys, wrestlers, small tenants and cultivators and mental specialists from Scotland Yard were called to tell the story of the Rajah's "death" and his "reappearance."

Kumar Roy claims he was the victim of arsenic poisoning. He said he was placed on a funeral pyre but that while the flames rose a torrential rain drove the mourners to shelter. The downpour revived him, he testified and he was rescued by passing beggars.

Placed in a trance by a priest seven years later, Kumar Roy revealed his identity and returned to claim his estate, valued at 100,000 lacs of rupees (about $60,000 annually).

Fire on Prairie Injures Seven

BRANDON, Man., May 1 (CP).—A 22-year-old man and six 'teen-aged boys were in hospital here tonight with burns received when they were trapped in a Prairie fire at Carberry, 30 miles east of here, yesterday.

The group had been employed by Forest Ranger T. P. G. Williams on a tree-planting project and when a Prairie fire broke out he enlisted their aid in fighting it.

Franco Reduces Council Cuts Top Group in Half

Fifty Seats Formerly Held by Falangists Filled by Appointments of Generalissimo

MADRID, May 2 (Thursday) (AP).—Generalissimo Franco today reduced from 100 to 50 the size of his Falange Party's National Council, thereby cutting the council's representation in the Cortes (parliament) by half.

Members of the party's council are automatically members of the Cortes, a consultative body.

The 50 seats formerly held by the Falange Council were filled by personal appointments of the generalissimo. The Falange is the only legal party in Spain.

Observers believed that this might be the first step taken by Gen. Franco to indicate his intention of returning Spain to democratic rule. Action by Spain has been expected in the face of investigations by the United Nations sub-committee.

In January of this year Gen. Franco denied in an interview that he shared the views of Hitler and Mussolini and said Spain would become a democracy when the people are "fully prepared."

He first became head of a Spanish Government when he was appointed head of a rival provisional government on September 30, 1936, when he was commander-in-chief of the Insurgents at the outbreak of the civil war. Opposing him prior to that time was Largo Caballero.

Strength of the Cortes is 470 members.

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP).—The United Nations Security Council subcommittee investigating Franco Spain plunged into a mass of 461 separate documents of the Spanish question today on its first secret meeting.

A communique said most communications urged recognition of the Spanish Republican Government.

Families Leave Vancouver For Interior

VANCOUVER, May 1 (CP) —Hundreds of families have left overcrowded Vancouver in the last year to start a new life in the Okanagan Valley. The flow is increasing from week to week.

Vancouver moving firms reported the exodus today and called it a significant new trend in the shifting pattern of postwar life in British Columbia.

Many of the heads of families are war veterans.

"They stick it out for a few months in Vancouver, where they want to live," said one cartage executive, "then they get fed up with living in basement rooms with two other families or with the wife's parents.

"The Okanagan is crowded too—in the cities, anyway. But hundreds of people seem to feel they'll have more room to breathe up there. It may be a gamble, but they're tackling it gamely."

Another firm reported its dozens of vans are booked a full month ahead with moving orders, more than half of them being to Okanagan centres like Vernon and Penticton.

A smaller movement is taking place toward the Cariboo country.

Many of those making the shift have bought land and will try farming.

Some are opening auto camps, banking optimistically on a postwar cavalcade of tourists.

Margarine Debated By Senate

Five Speakers Divide On Usage in Canada

OTTAWA, May 1 (AP).—A bill to legalize the importation, sale and manufacture of oleomargarine tonight won support from two Senate speakers and was opposed by three others.

Supporting the measure on second reading were Senator A. K. Hugessen (L., Quebec) and Senator Norman Paterson (L., Ontario). It was opposed by Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative Senate leader, Senator J. E. Sinclair (L., Prince Edward Island) and Senator Charles Howard (L., Quebec).

Senator Haig read a letter from the Dairy Council of Canada which said the industry could normally meet Canada's requirements and only during the present temporary shortage had there been demand for a substitute.

Senator Haig said the dairy industry had been the backbone of a large number of Canadian farmers.

Passage of the bill would lead to unrest in the farming industry, even though the measure was sure to be defeated in the Commons.

Senator Hugessen said prohibition of the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine was a violation of democratic principles.

No special interest, no matter how deserving, should receive a monopoly by statute.

Power Failure Stalls Trams

Street cars all over the city ground to unscheduled and unorthodox stops yesterday afternoon when a brief power failure killed their motors.

They were stalled for nearly 15 minutes, one of them in the middle of a turn at a busy intersection.

Cause of the interruption in power supply was a break in the line near the 17-Mile House on the Sooke Road, where workmen accidentally felled a tree across the transmission lines.

Official Says Food Lack To Stay Longest Period

Surplus of ready money, labor troubles and reconversion of both men and machines are among the complex factors resulting in today's shortages of many commodities, D. G. Mackenzie, Ottawa, former chief industrial agent, industrial division of Wartime Prices and Trade Board, said at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"People have a good deal of money to spend and there is an unprecedented demand for everything," he said. "Also, large quantities of civilian goods were out during the war and now have to be replaced."

"However, I don't think the situation is nearly as serious as they would have us believe," he said, declaring that shortages had been magnified. "Customers go from store to store seeking a certain commodity, and each retailer he visits will put in an order for that commodity. Requirements are therefore made to seem much larger than they really are. When the merchant's orders come through, he will find he has more than he can sell."

The building material shortage might be solved quite soon, he thought. Food shortage would take longer to overcome than anything else.

The United States coal and other strikes were reflected in Canada and delayed production in many lines. "But in reaching a just solution both capital and labor will have to yield some ground and make compromises," he said. Many people who had held well-paid war jobs were now unwilling to take less pleasant work at lower wages, but workers would find their own level eventually, he predicted.

"Reconversion is a slow process, and the main thing is to avoid impatience," he said. "The Government foresaw many of today's troubles a year and a half ago, and laid plans to meet them."

Mr. Mackenzie heads his own firm of consulting engineers. He is on his way now to spend a holiday on his Salt Spring Island farm.

Butter Blues in Real Earnest

People here and in other parts of Canada may think they've had a tough time getting butter the past few weeks. But they should live in France where only children are allowed butter and adults go without. The monthly ration for a child is pictured above as a storekeeper, with housewife looking on, weighs the small amount apportioned by law.

The motor is intended for use in jet-assisted aircraft take-offs or to propel aerial rockets.

New Association to Perpetuate Pacific Coast Militia Rangers

The ideals and activities of the Pacific Coast Militia Rangers are to be perpetuated by the newly formed Pacific Coast Militia Rangers Association, it was announced today.

The Rangers were formed in the early part of 1942 when danger threatened Canada's West Coast and were organized as a special corps of the militia, but after "V-J" Day the Department of National Defence ordered their disbandment.

The new association will be a peace time organization but with similar aims and objects and with very much the same structure. There will be an overall association with member clubs within it. The majority of the former P.C.M.R. companies have indicated their intention of reconstituting themselves as member clubs of the association.

The new association will provide for activities aiming at the protection of British Columbia and the Dominion.

It is expected that a great many overseas veterans of World War II will join the organization. Rifle shooting will be one of the activities, and affiliation arrangements with the British Columbia Rifle Association have been worked out. There is a chance that some Rangers will compete at Bisley, England, the mecca of expert marksmen.

Sponsoring the formation and incorporation of the new Rangers Association are former officers of the P.C.M.R., representative of the whole area. T. A. H. Taylor, former staff officer in charge of P.C.M.R., who organized and commanded the Rangers, and George Baldwin, former training officer, have been co-ordinating details of the new organization.

Dr. Allan Nunn to Jail for 10 Years British Searching for Mystery Couple

LONDON, May 2 (Thursday) (CP).—The Daily Mail said today Dr. Alan Nunn May, British physicist sentenced to 10 years' penal servitude Wednesday for giving secret information to a foreign power, told relatives after his arrest March 4 that he "expected a sentence of from seven to 15 years."

The newspaper said the scientist [illegible] Canada, where he worked on nuclear research during Allied development of the atomic bomb: "Now we have discovered this dreadful secret, everyone—black, yellow and white—must share it. Once they know how frightful it is, no one will dare use it against the others."

The Mail said Dr. May would attempt to receive permission to have scientific books in his cell and "continue his work."

The Daily Mirror said: "British Intelligence men are searching for a mystery man and woman who acted as 'a go-between' in this country."

SECRECY MAINTAINED ABOUT NATIONALITY

The newspaper added: "Strict secrecy is being kept about the nationality of the woman believed to be concerned."

The Daily Sketch in a story datelined Ottawa from a special correspondent (John Marshall) said Dr. May was "the key figure in setting the date for exposing the Canadian espionage ring," and added: "His projected return to Britain was a factor in the hasty trip made by Prime Minister King to Washington and London to advise Mr. Truman and Mr. Attlee of espionage activities."

The story said Dr. May had been under police surveillance from early September when the Russian Embassy code clerk, Igor Gouzenko (key Government witness in the current trials of persons accused of giving out secret information) left the Russian Embassy in Ottawa "with certain documents."

"Canadian authorities knew that Nunn May would be returning to Britain early in October and notified the British authorities," the newspaper said.

LONDON, May 1 (CP).—Dr. Alan Nunn May, 34-year-old British physicist, pleaded guilty today to disclosing official secrets concerning atomic research which his counsel [illegible] He was sentenced to 10 years' penal servitude.

May was one of a team of British, Canadian and American scientists who worked on nuclear research in Canada during Allied development of the atomic bomb. His counsel, Gerald Gardiner, told the court May disclosed certain information on atomic energy—but not on the bomb itself—to the Russians.

Mr. Justice Sir Roland Charles imposed sentence after telling the accused "you have acted as a dishonorable man."

May was charged with violation of the 1911 Official Secrets Act.

At his preliminary hearing, the young physicist pleaded innocent. Asked today how he would plead, he glanced at his counsel and replied in a low voice: "Guilty."

May was haggard looking and his shoulders seemed to sag when sentence was imposed.

NO SUGGESTION THAT RUSSIANS ENEMIES

May was arrested in London March 4 shortly after an investigation was launched in Canada into alleged Soviet espionage which Prime Minister Mackenzie King said extended through the Dominion and into Britain and the United States.

Mr. Gardiner said: "Dr. May tells me that the person to whom he gave this information was a Russian" and emphasized that at the time—in February, 1945—the Russians, as gallant allies of Britain, were driving toward Berlin.

"If at that time anyone had referred to Russia as enemies or potential enemies of this country . . ."

At this point Anthony Hawke, assistant prosecutor, interposed: "There has been no suggestion that the Russians are enemies or potential enemies. Nor is there any suggestion that this prosecution even contemplates the Russians as pos- [illegible]"

At another point Sir Hartley declared: "The offence was in giving information which might have eventually reached enemy hands."

Key to Invasion's Success To Be Shown in Model Form

"Operation Mulberry."

Those two words encompass one of the greatest wartime engineering feats of the world.

It was because of "Mulberry" that Allied troops were able to penetrate through the enemy on the coastline of Europe in the tense days of 1944.

"Mulberry" was a prefabricated floating harbor, built in seven months by 100,000 British workers at a cost of $110,000,000. The entire project weighed approximately 1,000,000 tons.

Victorians are to have a chance to see the original model of "Mulberry." Weighing more than 20 tons and transported on two railway cars, the model will be set up in the Bay Street Armoury on May 10. The exhibition will be open to the public the following day and will remain there for a week. The model is on loan to Canada from the British War Office.

Those who will arrive with the model and who will explain its operations are: Col. V. C. Steer-Webster, O.B.E., of the British War Office, chief of the Mulberry mission, Lt.-Col. C. W. Glover, officer in charge of the exhibit, and Capt. F. H. Oreatrex, who was signals officer in London in connection with "Operation Mulberry."

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR TO OPEN EXHIBITION

W. C. Woodward, Lieutenant-Governor, will officially open the exhibition May 10. Between May 11 and 16 the Armoury will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Paul Wright, now staying at the Empress Hotel, is in charge of arrangements for the display. He is attached to the public relations department of the "Mulberry Exhibition."

The idea for "Mulberry" was born as a result of Dieppe, for there it was realized Allied forces could not take an enemy port by frontal attack. Winston Churchill, referring to the need of piers for use offshore, wrote to the Chief of Combined Operations: "They must float up and down with the tide. The anchor problems must be mastered. Let me have the best solution worked out. Don't argue with the matter. The difficulties will argue for themselves."

British brains and hands mastered the mammoth task of building a harbor that the liberating armies could take with them to the shores of Europe.

Was "No" Man Schacht Says

NUERNBERG, May 1 (AP).—Hjalmar Schacht said today he had helped finance Nazi rearmament to "obtain equal rights for Germany," but declared that later "I blocked credits, I opposed undue rearmament, I talked against war and I took steps to prevent war."

The former Nazi Economics Minister, on trial before the international military tribunal on war crimes charges, pictured himself as a "no" man of Hitler's Germany.

He testified that "at every opportunity I said no," resisting Nazi reactions against churches and Jews.

Schacht, who also had served as Reichsbank president, said Hitler began to distrust him actively after Schacht made a speech at Koenigsberg in 1935 criticizing unlawful restraints imposed on individuals by the Nazis. He said Joseph Goebbels forbade publication of that speech.

Three Are Killed

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 1 (AP).—Three persons were killed in a clash between police and university students demonstrating against a reported British demand for four Egyptian airports. Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha denied the reports.

Announce Boosts For British M.P.'s

LONDON, May 1 (CP).—Members of Parliament will take home bigger pay cheques from now on and their salary increase from £600 to £1,000 (about $2,620 to $4,450) will be paralled by increases for lower-paid ministers and such prominent figures as Leader of the Opposition—at present Winston Churchill.

Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced the increases yesterday.

85-Year-Old Jordan River Pioneer Concerned Over Island Development

By David Gillespie

R. S. Gallop, of Jordan River, one of the few remaining frontiersmen who crossed the Rocky Mountains on foot before there was a railroad to the Pacific Coast, is mighty impatient at the slow progress being made in developing Vancouver Island's resources, and at the age of 85 years is out to do something about it.

He is spending his time writing letters to Members of Parliament, to the Canadian Legion, and to others asking them politely to 'wake up to the possibilities of Vancouver Island."

Straight, strong, tanned of face, smartly dressed and keen, Gallop shows no ill effects of a rugged life spent hiking, packing and "mushing" through Canada's roughest country in search of gold, or on timber cruises.

He has found gold not only once but many times. But Vancouver Islanders have things far more valuable than gold staring them in the face every day and fail to realize it, he asserts.

"For the past 60 years I've prospected, mined and timber-cruised all over the Island and have crossed and recrossed a lot of the worst of it many times—and I tell you it is the greatest country in the world—but no one seems to want to do anything about it," he declared in a strong, earnest voice that still bears a hint of New Brunswick where he was born in 1861.

GREAT CONCENTRATION OF NATIONAL RESOURCES

Pointing toward the west he said: "On the coast of this Island, west from the end of this road, is the greatest concentration of natural resources to be found, mile for mile, in all Canada—or anywhere else

"Given a road to Bamfield, through an area with the mildest weather in Canada, we can have 100,000 settled and employed people on the West Coast alone within ten years, and the greatest tourist attraction on the North Pacific Coast," Gallop declared.

Among the resources "just there for the taking," and in a mere 200 square miles, are huge stands of "over-ripe" timber, the fertile San Juan River Valley, which Gallop maintained would compare to the Lower Fraser if developed and great opportunities for fishing, whaling and packing plants.

"But that isn't all I know this Island I've prospected and timber-cruised over most of it," says Gallop, "and there are limestones, marbles, and sandstone and clays for the manufacture of silicon plastics, and there's gold, copper, silver, iron and lead ores And there are large areas that still need exploring"

A bare eight miles from the end of the West Coast Road lies Sombrio Beach, named by the Spaniards, and according to Gallop, "the greatest bathing beach attraction on the Pacific Coast, and the only beach for Greater Victoria."

Lying in a natural pocket of the coastline with high headlands on either side, and mountains at the back, the mile-long stretch of pure sand was free from cool winds, he said, and was remarkable for the beauty of its marine gardens, its caves, canyons and streams of pure fresh water on every hand

"The beach is ten degrees warmer than anywhere else on the coast, and everyone who has visited it is delighted," Gallop declared.

A nearby attraction, almost adjoining the beach, is a huge marine deposit of gold-bearing sand and gravel, which he claimed could be worked for 30 years at the rate of 15,000 yards a day, and still not peter out He figured the sand and gravel would run ten cents to the yard, and that recovery would cost two cents.

"But it's no good until we get a road there, for even an athlete has a hard time navigating the trail," the pioneer commented.

For a veterans' settlement the area from Port Renfrew to a spot three miles east of Lost River, a distance of 20 miles, defies competition, he claims. It has virgin forest, rich soil and fresh water every few yards.

"We could put our veterans along this new highway and let them harvest the ripe timber, replant for perpetuity, put up gas stations and tourist camps, and establish a great tourist attraction," he suggested.

Victoria was losing Port Renfrew's $60,000 payroll to Vancouver because of lack of roads on the West Coast, he claimed.

"I cruised the present logging sites on the West Coast long before operations started and sure hate to see the payroll go to Vancouver to be spent," he remarked.

A West Coast road was also needed in case of shipwrecks. He held that if there had been a road when the Valencia was wrecked, with enormous loss of life, many would have undoubtedly been saved. There has been several wrecks since then with no help forthcoming from shore

WEST COAST PRODUCTS GOING TO VANCOUVER

Most West Coast products were being shipped to the Mainland to the impoverishment of Island cities, Gallop contended.

"Every businessman and resident of the Island ought to be interested in seeing that roads are built, and that our resources are developed in a way that will make us prosper," Gallop declared.

"Unless these resources are made available without further delay, many of the houses being built in Victoria today will be vacant within the next two years, and our men will be forced to go elsewhere for opportunities denied them at home," he prophesied.

Golfer's Practice Swing Breaks Two Legs—Sounds Doubtful But It Says So Here

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., May 1 (AP).—A practice swing at an imaginary golf ball here today sent Moody Weaver, Wichita Falls, to the hospital with both legs broken. Weaver, a golfer since 1929, borrowed a wood from a player at the municipal golf course to demonstrate his favorite swing. He demonstrated, and collapsed.

He was rushed to the hospital and physicians said his left leg was broken above the knee and fractured above the ankle, and that his right leg was fractured in two places below the knee An operation was performed on his left leg

Canadian War Graves in Italy Said to Show Signs of Neglect

By WILLIAM BOSS

ROME, May 1 (CP). — Two fine Canadian cemeteries for the dead of the 1st Canadian Corps have been completed in Italy, except for headstones to replace the present wooden crosses, but elsewhere in Italy the graves of Canadian soldiers bear signs of at least temporary neglect.

Agira cemetery in hilly Central Sicily and the Moro River cemetery near Ortona, where the Canadians fought one of their biggest engagements, are well kept prototypes of other cemeteries now being built by the Canadian War Graves Commission in France, Belgium and Holland

But the 5th Canadian Armored Division cemetery at Villanova is depressing The graves of more than 225 soldiers there have obviously received no attention since the 1st Canadian Corps left early in 1945.

Parts of the cemetery lie under more than an inch of water, with weeds growing freely not only between the graves but in the aisles between the plots

There also are Canadian bodies in individual graves and regimental cemeteries along Route 16 leading along the Adriatic Coast from Pesaro to Rimini and farther north. On the other hand, those I remember buried in small regimental plots by the roadside along Route 9 running northwest from Rimini to Faenza and Bologna have been removed.

So far no Canadian cemeteries have been made in the Gothic Line area south of Rimini or around Ravenna The Canadians are buried in British cemeteries at Gradara and Coriano Ridge where the 8th Army fought through the Gothic Line.

Ortona takes pride in the appearance of the Moro River cemetery, a constant reminder of her deliverance December 28, 1943 A municipal pilgrimage to the cemetery on the anniversary has become an annual event. Plans to rebuild the damaged chapel of San Donato as a shrine for daily masses have been halted pending word whether Canada desires to do this herself

Concrete Mass Falls, Flattens Car; No Injuries

Two tons of concrete and half a ton of rolled carpet plummeted to the ground from the fifth floor of the Empress Hotel about 8.30 a.m. yesterday Startled guests at breakfast in the dining-room saw the falling mass strike a fire escape landing and bounce outward to make scrap metal of a car hood below The car was empty and no one was injured Property of C D. Samson, Yakima, the car was extensively damaged

The accident occurred when workmen were hoisting a large corridor carpet by means of a block and tackle The concrete balustrade to which the block and tackle were anchored gave way and crumbled to the ground, carrying carpet, block and tackle with it The fire escape landing was smashed out of shape

Police to Check Defects in Cars

Provincial and city police will test automobiles here as part of a nation-wide traffic safety campaign May 15 to June 30

The program is sponsored in the United States by the International Association of Chiefs of Police and in Canada by the Chief Constables Association.

Commissioner T W S Parsons, British Columbia Police, stated yesterday that with the co-operation of the public police would make a road check of brakes, lights, tires, windshield wipers and horns Any other apparent defects will be pointed out at the same time

City police are planning similar checks in addition to the routine testing that has been done in the past few weeks

As part of a traffic education program, Inspector John Blackstock has placed a display in a window of Cunningham's drug store at the corner of Yates and Douglas Street

It is understood the display will be changed from time to time, pointing out common traffic dangers and means of correction.

Says Atomic Bomb Should Be Banned

Nations should consider the possibility of outlawing atomic bombs in war as they outlawed gas, W F Hart, military correspondent of The Manchester Guardian, stated here

He observed that the British Empire has its strategic centre between Tunisia and Syria on both sides of the Nile A friendly Jewish community in Palestine would be an important source of manpower for defence of the Middle East area, he said. During the war Britain has weakened the home front for the benefit of the Middle East campaign.

Motorists Must Stop Behind Slowing Trams

Magistrate Henry C. Hall has called attention to the large number of Victoria motorists who drive past street cars stopping to unload passengers

Fining one motorist $10 for such an offence, he pointed out that the law stated automobiles should come to a stop when a street car was stopped or about to stop.

"Drivers seem to feel if they can slip past before the car door is actually opened they are obeying the law," he said. "Daily I see many dangerous situations because motorists fail to meet the requirements of the law."

"Take It or Leave It"

Confederation was not achieved in Canada by any shotgun wedding. When the Provinces entered it at different dates they did so of their own free will. No one had said to them, "Take it or leave it," as Prime Minister Mackenzie King has done to the premiers of the nine Provinces today. That is a dictatorial stand. It is also a dangerous one, for if the Provinces should "leave it," everything done at Ottawa during the postwar period would quickly become meaningless. That is the gun which Mr. King is pointing at the heads of the Provinces, by placing before them the option of breaking the federal union or of agreeing to all of his demands. The people, however, will not forget who picked up the gun.

Canada's chief constitution is that which is written in the British North America Act. By it the Dominion and the Provinces are partners, not one overlord and nine vassals. Straining in war, the Provinces yielded nearly all of their rights—for the war period and one year afterwards. The chief right was taxation, and this the Dominion took and used to the limit. Federal taxes and war loans drained the pockets of the people, and kept them empty. Meanwhile the Government led by Mr. King built up at Ottawa a regime that proved more powerful than Parliament, with full wartime powers, and apparently a desire to retain them all in the peace. There has been centralization with a vengeance, under the guise of emergency needs.

Has the day come when Mr. King is prepared to go it alone? Is he saying to the nine Provinces that they can drop out for all that the Dominion cares? If that is so, the Provinces will fall back upon their legal rights, and those rights are sound and unabated in law. "Take it or leave it" is highly provocative language in such a case, under all of the circumstances. It will be interpreted as an ultimatum, and the Canadian people do not like ultimatums. Usually, they call a bluff. It remains to be seen what the nine Provinces will do, in hardly "conference" atmosphere.

Greek Heroes

The real spirit of the Grecian people, as distinct from noisy political elements, is illustrated by the reported experience of an Allied commission now in Greece. It is the commission's task to offer monetary compensation to those Greeks who made sacrifices in the Allied cause during Nazi occupation. More than 1,000 civilians gave their lives, and at least 15,000 others suffered imprisonment or serious privations assisting British and American military personnel to escape or evade Nazi detection. To its embarrassment, the commission finds many Greeks indignant at the offer of money.

Needy inhabitants in Greece have been obliged to accept the compensation. Wealthier Greeks have refused to file claims or to accept any recognition at all for their services. In the Grecian island of Crete, the rejection has been even more emphatic. Ninety per cent of the Cretans who risked their lives in the Allied interest have considered it an insult to be offered compensation. Newspapers have been full of written indignation that the Allies should have thought them capable of accepting payment for doing what they considered to be a patriotic duty.

This is the spirit of the Greece that did not count the cost when it picked up the challenge of Axis invasion, and fought with a bravery consistent with a long and proud tradition of civilization. It is the spirit many Allied servicemen had cause to bless during long months of hunted existence under Nazi occupational rule. It is the quality that will enable Greece to emerge successfully from its present political troubles.

The Allied commission has persuaded Greeks and Cretans who disdained monetary reward to accept certificates of valor, and to permit the erection of marble plaques in many villages where Greeks died rather than betray the whereabouts of Allied agents. In this way, at least, the heroism of the Greek people will be freely acknowledged by grateful Allies.

"Righteous War"

Throughout history, every side has acclaimed its cause a "righteous" one in war. Former Premier Tojo of Japan, however, has as little excuse as the world has ever seen to so term his action in leading Japan into a naked war of aggression while Europe was locked in battle. The record is all too clear for that. It began twenty years before Pearl Harbor, by every means and power within the grasp of the Japanese military clique, then in the ascendant. The right of Japan "to rule the world" was freely preached, and, unfortunately, believed by all too many to stop the course of events as slowly and steadily they took shape.

Japan was defeated in the war, one fought on her side with savage cruelty and complete disregard of every chivalry. Former Premier Tojo attempted to take his own life by gunshot wounds. Real or feigned, the attempt failed. Now he awaits trial as a war criminal. He may, indeed, prefer the role of martyrdom in a lost cause. He may hope to attract to his name whatever distinction may come from adherence to this none too righteous cause. But that will not lessen the gravity of his position. He led Japan into war, shouting to high heaven of the righteousness of that action. Heaven, we do not doubt, will be little moved by it.

The peoples of the world have found little that is righteous about war. When it is forced on them, they see it in all its stark [illegible] hands cannot undo what was done in the latest conflict, and human hearts will pray that it will be the last one for a good long time to come. What Tojo once stood for is going down, and it will be the task of the world to see that it is not born to life again, in this generation or soon in any other. No nation has a valid claim on the right "to rule the world." Life on earth would not long be possible if it had. There history will reply to Tojo, if he cares to listen.

Kurt Meyer

With a secrecy that seems unnecessary unless it were designed to save him from ire of Canadians who deplored his reprieve from the death sentence, Nazi General Kurt Meyer has been shipped to this country. In Canada he will serve the term of life imprisonment to which his sentence was commuted, following his conviction on a charge of responsibility for the cold-blooded shooting of unarmed Canadian prisoners of war.

It is past history now, but Governmental authorities should remember that Meyer's reprieve was bitterly resented by most of the people of this country. He was adjudged guilty; he admitted the fairness of the verdict; yet Canadian military officialdom first rejected, then allowed his appeal for clemency. These facts are fresh in the public mind, which will expect that the terms of his imprisonment will be carried out without palliation.

Meyer is a convicted war criminal, and should be treated in the manner accorded any other common criminal. The country expects him to serve his sentence in full, without concession to the notoriety given him. No special favors should go his way, none of the attention paid him when he was treated almost as a "celebrity" on his arrival in England. The deed for which he was held responsible was a foul one—the killing one by one of helpless Canadian soldiers. His guilt should now be marked by the obscurity of the penitentiary, nothing else.

If it is true, as reported, that when he came ashore at Halifax Meyer was wearing the uniform of a Canadian Army private, an explanation will be demanded. The uniform of a private soldier of this country is a proud one. Some of Meyer's victims wore it as they were done to death. It most certainly should not have been disgraced to hide the identity of the man held responsible for their killing. This point should be clarified and quickly.

Palestine

The recommendation of the Anglo-American Commission that 100,000 Jews should be admitted to Palestine as soon as possible has had immediate repercussions in the Arab world. The British view that 15,000 immigrants a year were all that the country could absorb seems to have been brushed aside. The prospect of a mass influx of nearly seven times that number will do little to smooth waters already seriously ruffled. It will be another thing for the Commission now to show how 100,000 new settlers can be accommodated in Palestine as soon as possible, and that without mayhem resulting. In this, the United Nations are treading on marshy ground, because self-determination has been the guiding principle of that organization, and this would seem to be an edict imposed from without. All of the warning signals sounded by Colonel Lawrence thirty years ago seem in some danger of being ignored.

Seen in Passing

A butcher whom we trust, tells us that the ceiling price on prime cuts of meat is 56 cents per pound. Before the war we heard of things like that in the Yukon, or beyond the end of the trail anywhere, but not in settled urban centres where a steady market exists. Also, the war gave us gristle and bone weighed in with the meat—as part of the purchased waste that must be thrown away in the home. But the war is over, and today such prices seem unreasonably high by contrast with what the livestock producer receives.

A natural law seems to govern all things. The fool one day reaps the seeds of his folly. The blowhard finally comes to the end of his wind, and there is no one left to trumpet for him. The miser narrows his world until there is no one left in but himself. For a time man may force water to run up hill, but in the end it runs down again. So with human relations, which will rest only on a basis that is real.

"She Dwelt Among . . ."

She dwelt among the untrodden ways
Beside the springs of Dove,
A Maid whom there were none to praise
And very few to love:

A violet by a mossy stone
Half hidden from the eye!
Fair as a star, when only one
Is shining in the sky.

She lived unknown, and few could know
When Lucy ceased to be;
But she is in her grave, and, oh
The difference to me!

—WORDSWORTH.

Arctic Explorer

Frank M Kelley

The passing of Captain Robert Bartlett at New York, on Sunday last, has revived, maybe for only a brief spell, controversies that raged for some years following the display of the U.S. flag at the location of the true North Pole. The controversies developed over claims by Frederick A. Cook that he had reached the point some time before Commander R. E. Peary, and the fact that Peary in [illegible] was not accompanied by "Bob" Bartlett, who had contributed so much to make the explorer's success possible in the Spring of 1909.

Peary, his negro servant, four Eskimos and forty dogs were at the North Pole early in 1909, the party returning to New York in October of the same year, sixteen months after the Roosevelt sailed north. In the meantime, Cook, who had been financed in 1907, ostensibly to make a collection of Arctic fauna, had arrived back in New York with the announcement he had reached the Pole at a certain date, news which detracted a lot from Peary's achievement, and was more or less believed, especially when it became known that Peary, when his ice party reached the 88th parallel of north latitude, had arranged for Bartlett to turn south and rejoin the ship.

Circumstances were all in favor of Cook's claim. On the face of it, it looked as though Peary wanted to be, as was charged, the first white man to stand at the top of the earth. Even if that had been the case the explorer ought have considered himself justified, seeing that he had spent nearly 50 years of his life in the Arctic, financing himself, when not battling with the ice, by lecturing and soliciting aid from societies interested in Arctic exploration. According to Bartlett, Peary had also used his wife's possessions to finance the 1908-1909 expedition, to which Bartlett had also contributed of his earnings as a sailorman.

BARTLETT LOYAL TO PEARY

Probably there never was an Arctic explorer who had a more loyal second than "Bob" Bartlett. It is possible that without his aid Peary would not have attained his lifelong goal. Bartlett knew the "ice" and had the physique necessary to combat it. The plans of the 1908-1909 expedition called for certain things to be done, and if Peary and Bartlett hadn't parted company on an April day in 1909, Polar history might have been different.

Defending Peary against those who blamed him for not taking Bartlett with him, Captain "Bob" said "I wanted to pass the 88th parallel. In fact Peary had urged me to; his feeling was that he wanted me to go as far north as possible before the time came for parting. I mention this because people think I ought to have kept on with Peary to the Pole. The American public has held it against Peary for not taking me instead of Henson. I suppose if he had and everything had gone well I could have made a lot of money lecturing, and I don't deny it would have been a great thrill to have stood at the top of the globe. But don't forget that Henson was a better dog man than I. So I think Peary's reason was sound, and I have never held it against him."

The writer talked with Bartlett when he was at Esquimalt in 1913, getting the Karluk ready for the Steffanson expedition, when we renewed an early boyhood acquaintenceship begun in St. John's. He told me then some facts about the various Polar expeditions he had had a part in, as well as something about the claims of Cook. The Karluk left Esquimalt in June, 1913, and was crushed in the ice off Northern Alaska. Nobody was lost, but Bartlett displayed his courage and stamina on an extraordinary trek to secure help. He eventually reached Nome, when the Ss Bear proceeded towards Wrangel Island, meeting the trading vessel King and Winge with the survivors aboard.

FORBEARS CAME FROM DEVON

"Bob" Bartlett was born at Brigus, on Conception Bay. Originally from Devon, his people had lived on the Newfoundland coast for many generations, engaged in fishing and sealing. They were well-to-do folk. Relatives of Captain "Bob" had commanded Peary ships on a number of occasions. His uncle, Harry Bartlett, was in command of Peary's ship the Windward, a gift from Lord Northcliffe, by the way, when "Bob" first went with Peary as mate of that ship. That was in 1898. After that he was closely associated with him.

Oldest of four sons, Robert Bartlett's mother intended him to be a parson, and he was sent to Methodist College, St. John's, when he was 18 years of age. But the sea was in his blood. He never married. He didn't think an Arctic seaman should take a wife because of the hazards. He didn't want to have a good woman worrying over him. He was that kind of a man.

War Hits Paris and Antwerp Zoos Unevenly

By SAMUEL LUBELL
North American Newspaper Alliance

PARIS, May 1.—France's declining birthrate has long been one of her gravest worries, but there is one domain in Paris where it isn't a problem at all—that is the zoo.

The birthrate there already is higher than it was before the war. This seemed all the more astounding by comparison to the once-famous zoo at Antwerp, Belgium, which hasn't celebrated a single birth since liberation.

The contrast between the zoos illustrates how unevenly the fortunes of war can fall. At Antwerp, keepers said, about 80 per cent of the zoo population died during the war. At the Paris zoo, the death toll ran only between 15 and 20 per cent.

Much of the credit for the remarkable number of births at the Paris zoo belongs to a new feeding discovery, Paul Bullier, the assistant zoo director, said. It is a process for treating barley so that it stimulates fertility among the animals.

When the Germans invaded Belgium in 1940, all the ferocious animals in the Antwerp zoo—lions, tigers, leopards and bears—were put to death. Of course, feeding was not the only problem. It was feared they might break loose into the city's streets during the bombings.

The Parisians, being more philosophic, didn't kill their wild animals when the Germans menaced the city, though the zoo did have one major wartime casualty in the man-eating class—a Japanese bear who was executed by the Gestapo.

One day this bear killed and chewed up a German soldier. When the Gestapo arrived, they decided that a Japanese bear eating a German soldier was just too much. They assumed it was a publicity stunt aimed at embarrassing the Axis.

Because the unlucky German had been wearing civilian clothes, the Gestapo agents wanted to find out how the zoo tenders knew he was a German soldier. They never got a satisfactory answer and had the bear shot, apparently as a lesson to any other animals which might be pondering resistance ideas.

The food shortage at the Antwerp zoo is still acute, Walter Van Den Berg, director of the zoo, told us. Only Leo, its present solitary lion, and the birds of prey get any meat. All the other animals have had to become vegetarians. Fish couldn't be obtained during the occupation and that doomed the pelicans, penguins and California sea lions. And wheat, condemned as unfit for human consumption poisoned the flock of 25 flamingoes.

To make up for other animal feed lacks, Van Den Berg said, he turned to potato peelings. That is the one good thing to result from all the adversity of war.

"Potato peelings are a wonderful animal food," Van Den Berg exclaimed. "They're nutritious, the animals like them and they don't cost anything. We intend to feed peelings always."

The Paris zoo never was bombed, although the huge monkey cave in a rock at the centre of the grounds made an easily recognizable target. One Parisian said that the Germans, figuring the zoo wouldn't be bombed, used it as a parking lot for trucks and automobiles.

At Antwerp most of the buildings suffered some damage and several were completely wrecked. The zoo is located alongside the railroad station, and got hit almost every time bombers went after the station.

Van Den Berg estimated it would be at least six years before Antwerp's zoo resembled its own self again. "Until some of the buildings are repaired," he explained, "there isn't much use trying to bring in new animals." Next year an expedition is to be sent into the Belgian Congo.

The Paris zoo has some animals waiting in the Cameroons, New Guinea and the United States, but no ships are available. However, one "bring-them-back-alive" expedition is now working in the wilds of French Indo-China.

Inflation is another problem slowing the replenishment of the zoo population, according to Van Den Berg, who complained that chimpanzees now cost five times what they did before the war.

Some trading is going on between different zoos. Antwerp and Paris are swapping antelopes and giraffes for breeding purposes.

"Running a zoo with so few animals is quite a challenge," Van Den Berg admitted. "All we are doing now is giving people the illusion we have something interesting to show."

Currently, the great attraction at Antwerp is a pair of elephants which were donated by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery. The elephants have been named "Ike" and "Monty," though both are females.

"Otherwise," Van Den Berg continued, "we are planning a big new aquarium." He showed us the two prize exhibits, a hardy Japanese salamander who has been at the zoo almost 25 years, and a slippery eel.

Describing the eel, Van Den Berg related that, five or six years ago, there had been a small eel in the aquarium which suddenly and mysteriously disappeared. No clue could be found of his whereabouts and eventually he was forgotten. About two months ago, when the aquarium was nearly ready for reopening, the filtering pipes were given a thorough cleaning. And, lo, there was the eel! Five or six years before he had slipped into the filtering pipe and had stayed there ever since, living on the food that floated by. He had doubled in length and his black coat has turned silver.

Students Present Pen to Instructor

J. H. Kent, instructor of the sanitation and domestic heating technical course, conducted under the auspices of the Victoria School Board, was presented with a fountain pen by his students on Tuesday evening, the final class of the 1945-46 session.

Great interest in the classes has been shown by the 30 students taking the course, it was reported.

Converted Ship Will Sail Soon

Walter S. Miles, manager of Union Steamship Co. offices here, said yesterday the first cargo-passenger vessel being converted from a Castle class corvette will sail from Vancouver about June 15. The ship will operate on the Queen Charlotte Islands run. Two other corvettes will be converted into similar ships for the steamship line.

It is quite true that the right contract was reached, but it should be observed that North's one-no-trump response on the first round might have been hopelessly inadequate. If the East and South hands had been distributed a little differently North might have found himself playing one no trump, whereas game at spades would have been cold.

It is difficult to impress upon players that responses to overcalls must not be figured on the same basis as responses to opening bids. (Not that one no trump would have been the correct response to an opening spade bid, of course!) In this specific case—as in so many similar cases—North's best bid was a raise to three spades. Yes, his heart strength would be more valuable at no trump—but how about that singleton club, and how about the more important fact that one no trump would be a gross understatement of values, whereas two no trump, because of the singleton club, would be unthinkable?

Undoubtedly, North felt that a jump raise on only three trumps would be misleading and dangerous and so it would, if South had opened with one spade. Moreover, in that case two diamonds would be an easy, normal and safely constructive response forcing for one round. But since South's bid had been an overcall, two diamonds would not be forcing, nor constructive, and again since it was an overcall, vulnerable, the presumption was that South had at least a five-card spade suit, making A-J-8 excellent support.

The point of play was that, on the bidding, South had to lead the queen through West on his first lead of trumps.

Observation Car

Judging by the fantastic prices being offered on Vancouver Island for grocery stores, restaurants, automobile camps and other small businesses, there must have been a tremendous amount of wheat crop money upon which little or no income tax was paid. . . . Instead of seeking a site for a new building, the Y.M.C.A. could tear down the [illegible] another with several more floors and an elevator. The location at Blanshard and View Streets is hard to beat. . . . At Edinburgh last Monday, Winston Churchill charged the Labor Government with increased lush and lavish expenditure, failure to allow production of consumer goods in sufficient quantities, and failure of the housing program. The same accusations could be readily leveled at the Mackenzie King Government. . . . It is most unfortunate that the Federal Minister of National Revenue did not allow overburdened taxpayers to subtract life and fire insurance premiums and interest on home mortgages from income when making out their tax forms. It is a vicious system that makes a man pay taxes on such expenses. . . . Between Monday and Thursday, when commercial travelers and other businessmen flock to Up-Island hotels, it is often impossible to get a room. Many automobile camps remained open all Winter to take care of the overflow. Indications point to a heavy tourist season during Summer and Autumn, and if the crowded condition still applies to accommodation, I wonder where the tourists are going to stay. . . . Members of the Saanich Council hope Patricia Bay airport will be made available for unrestricted commercial flying. They will discuss the matter at Brentwood on Friday night with Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P.

RUG MATERIALS

Sir,—Pardon me for writing to you, but I am a patient in this hospital and try to help myself by making braided rugs.

I am badly in need of material and am wondering if you could put a small paragraph in your valuable paper asking for old dresses, stockings, coats and anything colored or black that would be useful to me.

I have no people or friends in this city, so cannot go to them for stuff for the rugs. I would be very glad if you would kindly do that for me.

A TRIBUTE

Sir,—The news of Mr. H. A. Pease's passing in Vancouver brings a sense of deep loss to those honored by his friendship. City Heralds May Day With Parades Demanding Better Deal for Labor

Nearly 350 workers carrying banners, with several floats, marched through the sunny streets of downtown Victoria yesterday afternoon to Beacon Hill Park for a rally marking May Day, traditional day of celebration for labor the world over. Pipers, of Balmoral Girls' Pipe Band led the parade.

[illegible] world, May Day slogans and speeches were designed to spur the drive for higher wages and shorter hours.

Some banners urged a 40-hour week with increases in pay. National Union of Machinists, with the slogan "Produce to Prevent Inflation," featured a display of machinery mounted on a truck. Other slogans included:

"Eight-Hour Day, Increase in Pay" (Canadian Seamen's Union); "The Battle for Peace," "Hold the Price Ceilings and Give Wages a Chance to Catch Up," and "Grant the Franchise to East Indians."

From the bandstand in Beacon Hill Park labor and community leaders spoke for nearly two hours. Chairman was T. A. Mitchell, president of Victoria Labor Council, C.C.L., and among other speakers were Robert Mezger, secretary of the council; Pat Shea, of Amalgamated Building Workers; Malcolm McLeod, president of Shipyard General Federation; Ald. Edward Williams, Victoria; Reeve A. G. Lambrick, Saanich; Reeve Walter Walker, Oak Bay, and Rev. W. W. McPherson, president of Victoria Ministerial Association. Senator Thomas Rabbitt, of Seattle, scheduled to speak, was unable to attend.

"This is the first May Day of the peace," said Mr. Mitchell, "but where is the peace? Where are the things for which labor struggled and fighting men gave their lives? Where are those homes, jobs and better working conditions?"

Rev. W. W. McPherson spoke in favor of increased old age pensions and lowering of pension age to 60.

Present wages were not enough to meet the rising cost of living, said Pat Shea. A great bulk of Canada's workers had received no increases since 1939. A 40-hour week would make possible employment of one additional veteran for every 10 workers.

"Labor and management are co-operating as never before," said Ald. Williams. "Labor is coming into its own and will be a powerful instrument in establishing peace and [illegible] ing trade already has a 40-hour week, he pointed out.

Labor's demands were not extravagant, said William Caird, president of Victoria Joint Shipyard Council. They only sought to bring wages up level with prices. A 35 per cent cost of living increase had brought only a 10 per cent general wage increase in recent years.

Said Reeve Walker of Oak Bay: "You are entitled to demand a fair share of the fruits of production, but you are intelligent enough to know that if you demand more, chaos will follow."

Both labor and capital should moderate their demands in times of stress and shortage, said Reeve Lambrick. The secret of a higher standard of living, he said, lay "not in more dollars, but more for the dollar."

The Dominion Government was yielding to pressure from big business, in lifting price ceilings, warned Robert Mezger. He said that labor "should raise its voice high enough to drown out that small group of people who are bending themselves together for the purpose of keeping down your standard of living."

Canada's workers stood pledged to aid workers in other lands in their struggle toward prosperity and peace, said Malcolm McLeod.

Real Estate Men Hear H. W. Davey On Commissions

Commissions in the real estate business were discussed by H. W. Davey, K.C., yesterday before a meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board at the Kit Kat Cafe, Douglas Street.

His topic was "Who Is the Party Entitled to Commission on a Sale of Real Estate?" Mr. Davey felt "the agent who effects a sale is entitled to the commission."

It was noted conditions involving commissions "vary in practically every case," and the suggestion was made that real estate men establish a "commission basis," and operate on a schedule, with variations dependent on the nature of the sale or contract.

Mr. Davey also recommended that agents take more care in accepting listings, and emphasized the advisability of having property owners sign written contracts relative to selling prices and commissions.

He explained difficulties encountered by agents who, after receiving a listing, find that when a potential buyer is secured, the owner changes his mind. "The agent, if he has accomplished that which he agreed to do, is entitled to some form of commission," the speaker added.

Differences between exclusive, general and special listings were explained. A general discussion period followed.

Vancouver Asks Lease On 35-Acre Reserve

Fearing that the Kitsilano Indian lands might be developed as an industrial area rather than a park, a three-man Vancouver delegation yesterday asked Hon. E. T. Kenney, Minister of Lands, for a 99-year lease to Vancouver city on the area at a nominal rental.

The reserve, containing 35 acres, is situated to the west of Burrard Street and on it there are now some R.C.A.F. buildings which the Dominion Government originally undertook to remove within two or three years of the end of the war.

Greater Victoria Building Totals Set New Record

Setting what is believed to be an all-time record, 1,161 building permits totaling $3,759,610 were issued in Greater Victoria during the first four months of this year.

This amount represents an increase of nearly four times the figure of $938,973 for the corresponding period last year.

In April alone the Greater Victoria total reached $1,283,567, also believed to be a record. Permits for 123 new homes were included.

Victoria accounted for the greater share of the total last month with 155 permits amounting to $803,262, and including permits for 34 new homes. Largest items in the city were $150,000 for the Odeon Theatre, $36,000 for a roller skating rink, $90,000 for Kelly-Douglas food warehouse, $45,000 for J. M. Wood garage, and $50,000 for Pope Apartment Block.

Permits for 60 dwellings in Saanich accounted for the largest part of the month's total of $322,940, which compares with $61,495 for April, 1945.

From one permit valued at $450 issued in April, last year Esquimalt jumped to 18 permits valued at $67,900 this year. Twelve of the permits were for homes.

Oak Bay figure for April this year was more than double that of last year, with 20 permits valued at $89,265. Included were permits for 15 homes.

$300,000 Breakwater Planned For Northern Fishing Centre

At a cost of $300,000, a 1,100-foot breakwater is to be built at Fisherman Bay by the Dominion Government, it was reported yesterday.

Fisherman Bay is at the northern tip of Vancouver Island and is a fishing community being developed by Fisherman Bay, Ltd.

J. B. Murphy, general manager of the company, who is staying at the Dominion Hotel, said yesterday there were now eight families living there, and five more are due next week. It is hoped to have a settlement of more than 100 families in the community, which Mr. Murphy described as "one hewn out of the wilderness." Most families are those of veterans.

It is planned to build a modern cannery and cold storage plant as the community expands and develops.

Work will begin on the new breakwater as soon as possible, the general manager stated.

W. P. Dixon, president of the community concern, is in Vancouver completing a deal with Home Oil Distributors, which will obtain oil and fuel concessions at the bay.

American fishing concerns have also taken an interest in development and expansion of Fisherman Bay, Mr. Murphy reported.

As a temporary measure, Fisherman Bay, Ltd., has established a 350-foot hulk in the bay to serve as a protection for fishing vessels.

Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion will also press for improvements at the fishermen's centre.

Elderly Man Fined For Assaulting Boy

Convicted on a charge of assaulting an 11-year-old boy on April 26, an elderly man was fined $5 by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court yesterday.

The boy claimed that the accused grabbed him about the neck and shook him. When asked by city prosecutor Claude L. Harrison if he knew any reason for the attack the boy stated that several boys in the neighborhood played baseball near the man's house and he was always complaining.

The accused stated the boy had trampled his lawn while recovering a baseball and had made vulgar gestures toward his wife and himself.

Red Cross Reports 50,661,534 Articles Distributed During War

TORONTO May 2—In a financial review of the society's activities during the full war period, Mr. L. A. Winter, honorary comptroller, told the annual meeting of the central council of the Canadian Red Cross in session here this week that, as compared with Red Cross receipts in the Great War of some $30,000,000, receipts during the World War totaled $121,091,425 from every source, and that expenditures during these years amounted to $104,331,105, leaving a balance of $16,760,320 to be budgeted for relief in Britain, Europe, China and other Red Cross work in the critical postwar period ahead.

Through the efforts of Red Cross women workers, 2,139,684 articles, including hospital supplies and comforts for the armed forces and civilian war sufferers, as well as 5,011,041 surgical dressings, were distributed in Canada and overseas in 1945, bringing the overall total since the outbreak of war to 50,661,534, Mrs C. F. McEachren, chairman of the National Women's War Work Committee, reported.

Harold H. Leather, chairman of the National Prisoners of War Parcels Committee, reported that 16,310,582 prisoner of war food parcels had been packed in the six Red Cross packing plants from the beginning of this service in January, 1941, until its final closing in July, 1945.

Over the past six years, the society in co-operation with the women's institutes and other organizations, shipped to Britain approximately 2,500,000 pounds of jam, jelly and honey for distribution to war nurseries, service clubs, civilian war relief, etc., according to a report by Col John A Cooper, chairman.

Steady development in the Red Cross nutrition service throughout Canada during the year was reported by Dr. Frederick F Tisdall, chairman, National Nutrition Committee, who stated that a number of divisions and larger branches had appointed nutritionists to organize various types of nutrition programs.

The total of 876,277 members of the Canadian Junior Red Cross in 30,861 branches throughout Canada and Newfoundland made record contributions in 1945 to their war fund of $263,043 and to their crippled children's funds of $132,836. Miss Joan E Browne, national director, stated that $161,763 had been expended from the Junior Red Cross War Fund during the year for relief such as milk, foodstuffs, cod liver oil, for British, French, Dutch, Norwegian and Polish children, drugs for cases of coeliac disease in Britain and the maintenance of 14 war nurseries in Britain. 1,463 cases of handicapped children, she said, had been assisted in 1945, making a total of 26,277 crippled children aided by the juniors since inception.

Many Hardships Says Lady Reading

TORONTO, May 1 (CP)—Rationing of household goods is only one of innumerable problems facing the people of Britain today, said the dowager Marchioness of Reading as she arrived here today to extend thanks to Canadians for their material contributions to the British people during wartime. Lady Reading is the chairman of the Women's Voluntary Services of the United Kingdom.

An English family of four, she said, would get a total of 170 ration points for furnishing a new home. And one teapot takes 10 points. She said she had wondered if she could "pinch" the mattress on which she slept on the train coming to Toronto from Ottawa; "I would certainly like to take it home."

Christ Church Cathedral Scene Of Lovely Wedding Last Evening

Spring flowers in profusion formed a lovely setting in Christ Church Cathedral for the wedding last evening of Irene Margaret Louisa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Harry T. Webb, "Webholme," 2636 Bowker Avenue, to Reverend William Edward Askew, eldest son of Mr. Edward Askew, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, and the late Mrs Askew Very. Reverend Spencer H Elliott, Dean of Columbia, officiated at the ceremony. Mr. T. Jenkins provided the traditional wedding music, and Miss Lettice of the Altar Guild was responsible for the floral decorations carried out in blue and white, the colors of the A.Y.P.A.

Escorted by her father, the bride was lovely in a wedding gown of ivory slipper satin with shirred bodice, sweetheart neckline, lily point sleeves and full skirt with court train. Her embroidered veil, train-length, cascaded from a sweetheart headdress of shirred satin caught to her head with orange blossoms A single strand of pearls, the groom's gift, and a shower bouquet of American Beauty roses, gardenias and lilies of the valley, completed the bride's charming ensemble.

Miss Joyce Dixon costumed in robin's egg blue taffeta was the bride's only attendant. She wore a matching bonnet with ecru lace brim [illegible] pond with the sweet peas, carnations and forget-me-nots in her Colonial bouquet, ecru lace gloves, and a pearl necklace, the groom's gift

Rev. James Dalton, Vernon, B.C., supported the groom, and the ushers were Mr. John Sutton and Richard Rowe. As the couple left the church the bell-ringers played a joyous peal of bells.

A reception was held in the lower lounge at the Empress Hotel, where Mrs Webb smartly attired in a Vogue model of grey and white with navy accessories, assisted the young couple in receiving. The three-tiered cake topped by sweetheart roses centred the supper table which was artistically decorated with Spring flowers and lighted by white tapers in silver candelabra. The health of the bride was proposed by Mr. Felix Tattersall, Vancouver, Presiding at the urns were Mrs. Felix Tattersall, Vancouver, Mrs. A V. May, Moose Jaw, Mrs. Arthur Johnson and Miss Beatrice Mutlow.

For a honeymoon at Jasper and Edmonton, the bride wore a two-piece ensemble in sky blue wool with dolman-sleeved coat trimmed with squirrel, bonnet of grey French straw trimmed with blue bows, grey and white accessories and gardenias en corsage. The couple will make their home at Ogden, near Calgary, Alberta, where the groom is rector of two parishes.

Water From Wells For Cordova Bay

Reeve A. G. Lambrick, of Saanich, told Cordova Bay residents at a meeting in McMorran's Pavilion last night that water from the municipal wells would only be supplied to them for a brief period during the Summer shortage City water would continue to be used until it was absolutely necessary to switch to well water, he said.

The water would not come down Blenkinsop Road as last year, but directly to the 12-inch main on Shelbourne Street.

Well-water was slightly harder than city water, but perfectly free from contamination, he stated.

Important Decisions Confront Delegates at C.A.H.A. Meeting

Future Status of Quebec, Western Canada and Pacific Coast Leagues to Be Dealth With

VANCOUVER, May 1 (CP)—On the eve of a Canadian Amateur Hockey Association annual convention that is expected to effect broad changes in the fast growing international puck setup, many unofficial indications of what will be discussed [illegible] senting themselves.

Understood to be up near the top of the agenda is the future status of the Quebec senior league, which pays minor pro salaries while maintaining in name its standing as an amateur circuit.

The National Hockey League, it is believed, would like to see the Quebec loop, along with the Pacific Coast and Western Canada Senior Leagues operating as straight professional outfits.

As things stand now, the healthy amateur circuits have as much to offer the puckchasers as most pro leagues and it's safer for the players with less competition than in the big time.

Ken McConnell, of The Vancouver Province, writes that an unimpeachable source has provided the information that the N.H.L. is prepared to pay a lush sum to the C.A.H.A. for turning the Quebec League into an out-and-out professional outfit. It would also be delighted, he adds, to the point of paying a little something extra if the Western Canada League and the [illegible] pro.

The juvenile hockey setup may be revamped following discussion of the possibility of holding regular Dominion juvenile playoffs.

Also to be dealt with is a plan whereby 75 per cent of playoffs receipts above operating costs will be divided among all teams participating in Allan and Memorial Cup playdowns.

An effort is being made to prevent any player who is under 19 years of age from signing a pro contract or playing in the United States or Britain.

This, it is seen, would aid the C.A.H.A. in retaining control of amateur hockey's big paying junior spectacle, Memorial Cup finals, which this year drew 102,000 fans to Maple Leaf Gardens.

The move for amateurs to the big time might be tagged with a boost in charges to the N.H.L. and other pro circuits by the C.A.H.A. Previously it was $500 for players going to the N.H.L. and $250 for those signing with minor pro clubs. But under the new rulings it would be $2,000 for the N.H.L. and $1,000 for the minors.

In addition a senior moving to British or United States teams would cost the new employers $100, an intermediate $300.

Klutz, Verban and V. DiMaggio Figure In Three-Way Swap

ST. LOUIS, May 1 (AP).—St. Louis Cardinals bolstered their weak catching staff today by trading Second Baseman Emil Verban to Philadelphia Phils for Catcher Clyde Klutts, a few hours after the Phils obtained Klutts from New York Giants in exchange for Outfielder Vince DiMaggio.

Eastern Cage Fans Concede Final Series

WINDSOR, Ont., May 1 (CP).—The outlook was bleak tonight for the Assumption College varsity team in the Canadian senior "A" basketball final against Victoria Dominoes.

The veteran Dominoes hold a 1-0 lead in the best-of-five series as a result of their smashing 53-35 triumph over Assumption last night in the series opener before 2,300 fans. Their performance brought them rating as favorites in the succeeding games here tomorrow night and Saturday.

Assumption has a young team, the youngest to represent this city in the East-West cage classic since 1026 when another Assumption team won the title from the University of British Columbia.

By contrast the Dominoes are veterans, reunited after being separated by war service. Some of the fans reasoned after last night's opener that "the older these guys get, the better they are." Art and Chuck Chapman and George Andrews looked even better than they did when they played with the Dominoes against Windsor in 1036.

Denies Players Scalped Tickets

WINNIPEG, May 1 (CP).—Pat Lyon, manager of the Winnipeg Monarchs, said here last night that as far as he knew "not one ticket of the 400 we bought was sold for a nickel more than the cost price."

He was commenting on a report on the sports page of The Toronto Daily Star which said that members of the Winnipeg Memorial Cup hockey winners had made themselves a few extra dollars by selling tickets to the series in Toronto at prices far beyond the regular admission fee.

Lyons said tickets bought by the Winnipeg club officials were distributed at cost to the fans who had accompanied the team on the train from the West.

If the players "scalped" their own tickets "they did it without my knowledge and against my wishes. They were told not to scalp any tickets," Lyons said.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1 (AP).—The third place Los Angeles Angels put together three unearned runs tonight to defeat the first-place San Francisco Seals, 3-1, in a Pacific Coast Baseball League game. Red Lynn yielded only four hits in chalking up his sixth win against one loss.

Extortion Attempt Made Against Dorothy Lamour

BALTIMORE, May 1 (AP).—An attempt to extort $15,000 from Screen Actress Dorothy Lamour was disclosed today by an official source shortly after announcement of recovery of jewelry and valuables stolen from the actress in a $29,000 theft last Thursday.

The official said the actress received the extortion note in the mail Monday morning at the home of her husband, William Ross Howard, III, in Pikesville, a Baltimore suburb. The note was postmarked in Baltimore Saturday.

The official reported the note said: "Put $15,000 in the third pew right side of St. Ignatius Church (Park Avenue and Saratoga Street) at Sunday service."

Police announced an anonymous telephone tip lead to recovery of the stolen jewels.

"Thank goodness!" was Miss Lamour's reaction.

At the Theatres

Eugene O'Neill's Drama At the York Monday

To the ominous throb of the tom-toms, Eugene O'Neill's first great drama, "Emperor Jones," dealing with Harlem love intrigues and voodoo-infested Haiti, is once again available to theatregoers.

This time it is a talking picture produced by John Krimsky and Gifford Cochran, the importers of "Girls in Uniform," and released by Screencraft Pictures, is coming to the York Theatre on Monday.

YORK THEATRE Blending the humor and philosophical qualities of Will Rogers with a rich baritone singing voice, Tex Ritter, America's foremost singer of folk songs, comes to the York Theatre for a personal appearance with his Western and Hillbilly Jamboree, starting today. By reputation and through his outstanding Capitol records, he remains America's leading singer of Western and hillbilly folk songs. On his current tour Ritter is introducing in person for the first time his famous screen horse, White Flash, who has appeared with the cowboy actor in more than 50 Western films.

CAPITOL THEATRE Dennis Hoey, 204 pounds, barrel-chested and iron-muscled six-and-a-half footer, is well qualified to play the ungallant spouse of lovely Paulette Goddard in Paramount's "Kitty," now featured at the Capitol Theatre. He was former sparring partner of Bombardier Wells, British heavyweight champion. It is one of those violent scenes that usually break up happy homes. Kitty is busy cracking open her husband's safe, when Dennis (yes, he's the hubby) walks in at the crucial moment.

DOMINION THEATRE "Doll Face," 20th Century-Fox's super-package of film musical entertainment, starring Vivian Blaine, Dennis O'Keefe, Perry Como and Carmen Miranda, ends tonight at the Dominion Theatre. Ottawa Promises Twice-a-Day Mail Deliveries Shortly

Twice-a-day mail delivery system will be instituted in Greater Victoria residential areas "as soon as justifiable," Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Dominion Minister of Labor, informed members of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council in a letter read to delegates last night. The measure has been approved by Federal postal [illegible]

Unanimous endorsement was given a letter from the Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council protesting lifting of price controls in Canada.

Recommendations dealing with the next civic elections will be announced next month, the council's civic elections committee reported.

A local branch of the Hod Carriers, Building and General Laborers' Union, has been established in this area, it was announced by William James, international representative of the group. Charter will be presented to the new branch at a special meeting in the Labor Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

Following reports from several delegates on the amount of family allowance benefits reclaimed through income tax, the council instructed the legislative committee to prepare a resolution to be forwarded to Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance in the Dominion Government.

A study of building permits issued in the past month will be made by the legislative committee, the council announced. It was the opinion of the majority of delegates that certain non-essential building should have been left in abeyance until the present housing shortage here has been rectified.

President Gives Railway Report

MONTREAL, May 1.—D. C. Coleman, LL.D., D.C.L., was re-elected chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and W. M. Neal, C.B.E., was returned as vice-president during the annual meeting of shareholders.

Mr. Coleman, Mr. Neal, Ross H. McMaster, Morris W. Wilson, C.M.G.; L. J. Belknap and Aime Geoffrion, K.C., were elected executive committee members. Rt. Hon. Sir John Anderson, G.C.B., M.P.; Mr. Belknap, Hon. Eric W. Hamber, Mr. McMaster and Mr. Wilson, retiring directors, were re-elected for four-year terms.

In referring to the first peacetime meeting after six years of war, Mr. Coleman pointed out railways played a vital role in the great task of weaving together the diversified strands of activity which made the fabric of Canada's national war effort. He felt Canada was one of the few countries now enjoying a favorable economic position and opportunities abounded to help in rebuilding a ravaged world.

He said the C.P.R. transportation system, built up over 60 years of prudent management, represented no small part of the Dominion's capacity to engage profitably in world trade.

For the fifth consecutive year there had been a decrease in the ratio of net earnings to gross earnings, and it was clear that only the abnormal volume of traffic made it possible for the company to meet rising costs of operation and show fairly satisfactory results.

Dividends on ordinary stock amounting to $1.25 per share had been declared, the same as for 1944. Since 1042 the sum of $40,200,000 had been paid to 60,000 holders of ordinary shares.

Mr. Coleman also dealt with the subjects of declining traffic, increasing costs, aggressive planning, the vital position of railways to the nation, and fair treatment.

See Jobs for All In B.C. by August

Latest figures show 8,062 job vacancies in British Columbia, 6,933 for men and 2,129 for women, compared with the previous week's figures—8,992, 6,874 and 2,118.

C. K. Morison Opens Vocation Sessions

C. K. Morison, provincial librarian, addressed the opening meeting yesterday of a series of Wednesday sessions at Mount Douglas High School. The series, arranged by V. W. Jones, of the school staff, is designed to familiarize interested students with various vocations.

In stressing the relation which a public library has to all other lines of work, the speaker pointed out the necessity for extension of present library facilities.

Mr. Morison urged students who wished to serve their community in this way, to take the course leading to the degree of bachelor of library science. At the present time there is a definite shortage of trained librarians, he said.

A short question period followed the address. The film, "Library on Wheels," story of the Fraser Valley Union Library in action, was shown.

Clarify Reports On Truman Chat

PARIS, May 1 (CP).—Reports that President Truman told Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, in a trans-Atlantic telephone conversation today that a United States loan to France was "on the way" were clarified tonight.

It was first reported by "an official French source," not further identified, that Mr. Truman had told M. Bidault that prospects were bright for the loan.

Later on, however, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said that the President and the Foreign Minister had merely exchanged brief greetings.

Name Armstrong for Wood Fuel Position

C. H. Unicume, acting regional wood fuel officer, Department of Reconstruction and Supply, said here yesterday that Mr. Armstrong has been recommended for the position. He has had three years' experience at the Vancouver office.

There will be no surplus of wood this year, and strikes may prolong shortages, Mr. Unicume said. He advised householders to lay in Winter fuel stocks.

Diseases of Potatoes Explained to Farmers

An illustrated lecture on "Potato Ring Rot" and other tuber diseases was presented by W. R. Foster, plant pathologist at the Dominion Experimental Station, during a recent meeting of Metchosin Farmers' Institute in Luxton Hall. Ross Hitchcox presided.

P. J. Willway, secretary, reported a large number of entries had been received from school children of Metchosin, Happy Valley, Albert Head and Rocky Point for a vegetable contest. Institute members decided it would prove too costly to use Provincial Government machinery for clearing eight acres of their land.

Don't feel "slowed down," tired all the time—just because you've reached middle-age! Take a tip from this "young" grandmother who, like thousands of other modern people, simply refuses to allow her system to become slowed down with toxic waste—the result of too much rich, fatty food and too little exercise.

She knows the natural action of Bile Beans is mild and effective—tones up the whole system by stimulating the liver—and helps to keep her fit and trim. Try them tonight. Ask your druggist for BILE BEANS—the all-vegetable remedy that "Wakes Up Nature". 45

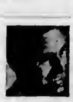
Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery



If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they made you feel.

Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming.

To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, so why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP). — Stocks moved irregularly lower today in the quietest market in a month, although selected issues responded to favorable earnings or dividend news.

Selling pressure hit liquors following the reduction ordered on use of grains, but a few recovered the day's losses. Steels and some industrials dependent on that metal gave ground reflecting fears of widespread operating shutdowns because of coal shortages. Rails improved, and a number of pivotal oils, motors and rubbers were steady.

Total transfers of 980,000 shares compared with 1,000,000 Tuesday.

DOW JONES' AVERAGES

Thirty industrials, 205.67; off 1.16.
Twenty rails, 64.78; up .50.
Fifteen utilities, 43.20; off .14.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, May 1 (CP). — Rye futures gave a strong display in an active trading session on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today which saw May climb to an all-time high at $2.83 bid.

Light offerings and good demand from United States and local interests were mainly responsible for the sharp upturns.

May finished 5 cents higher at $2.83 bid; July was quoted 4 3-8 higher at $2.55 3-8; October, 3 3-8 to 3 1-2 higher at $2.01 1-8 to $2.01 1-4, and December, 4 2-8 to 4 1-2 higher at $1.92 7-8 asked to $1.93.

In the export market, sale of 775,000 bushels of wheat was reported to the United Kingdom.

DERBY, England (CP) —The long-established custom of distributing free loaves at Derby Cathedral on Sundays will be discontinued owing to the bread shortage.

B.C. Stock to Go To Toronto Fair

For the first time since early in the war, Toronto's Royal Winter Fair will be held on November 12 next, and efforts are being made to secure representative entries of British Columbia livestock.

William Dryden, general manager of the fair, has discussed with Hon. E. T. Kenney, Provincial Minister of Lands and Forests, in the ab- [illegible] ster of Agriculture, the question of cost of transporting animals from British Columbia to Toronto, and it is understood that a suggested Government grant will shortly be discussed by Cabinet.

In previous years, the Dominion Government and several of the provinces have made contributions to the fair, and in addition Ottawa has borne 75 per cent of the cost of transportation of stock.

Victory Gardens Being Expanded

Alive to the possibility of a shortage of vegetables for the next year or so, city and suburban dwellers throughout British Columbia are carrying the victory garden idea into peacetime.

Recently the British Columbia Department of Agriculture, using the slogan "Fight Famine With Food," urged householders with even small backyard patches of ground to plant as much as possible in potatoes and other table vegetables. There has been an encouraging response, says Dr. J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture.

He anticipates that 1,000 more acres will be planted in potatoes in the province this year than formerly.

At the same time, department officials say conditions for commercial fruit crops are excellent, and it is possible that record crops may be harvested in the coming Summer and Fall. Okanagan Valley's greatest harvest on record was in 1944, when more than 8,500,000 boxes were picked.

London Market

LONDON, May 1 (Reuters). — There was nothing prepossessing about today's markets which, after a promising start, lapsed into semi-idleness.

In the gilt-edged market a combination of small sales and intersection adjustments caused a minor decline in prices.

Industrials were mixed. The iron and steel section and building shares were strong while breweries were down.

Fresh interest developed for the junior home rail stocks, most of which finished a point better.

Oils were also in fair demand, and South African gold mines were quiet.

Motorist Is Hurt in Collision With Pole

Norman C. Beckley was taken to Jubilee Hospital by city police shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning suffering cuts to his left knee and temple after his car collided with a telephone pole at the southeast corner of Government and Mill Streets.

The car was reported severely damaged.

Tuesday evening Mrs. M. Maysmith, 2947 Shelbourne Street, reported to police that she had knocked over a fire hydrant on Lilian Road in swerving her car to avoid a dog on the road.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, May 1 (AP).—May rye advanced on short covering in a relatively quiet trade today. Although the number of transactions was small, price changes were fairly broad in view of the "thin" market existing in this future. Oats firmed late in the session in sympathy with the rye strength after selling-off on moisture reports in early dealings.

At the close wheat, corn and barley were unchanged at ceilings; oats were unchanged to 1-4 higher, and May rye was 4 1-2 to 4 7-8 higher.

But FOLKS were talking about this GRAND NEW FLAVOR!

1. Morning papers filled with news of Peary's explorations to the North Pole appeared at breakfast tables about the time folks first thrilled to that gloriously different Grape-Nuts flavor.

3. Peary would have praised sky-high the nourishment in Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes: carbohydrates for energy; proteins for muscle; phosphorus for teeth and bones; iron for the blood; and other food essentials.

4. Two grains — not just one — give you that Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes goodness. Wheat and malted barley are specially blended, baked and toasted a curly golden brown for appetizing crispness and remarkably easy digestion. Get Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes at your grocer's. Meyer's Quarters Aboard Aquitania Unfit for Wives

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP).—Defence Headquarters announced today that S.S. Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer, sentenced to life imprisonment for war crimes, arrived in Halifax aboard the Aquitania yesterday and was taken immediately to the penitentiary at Dorchester, N.B.

The [illegible] indicate whether Dorchester was to be Meyer's final stopping place, nor did it give any intimation of the nature of the accommodation provided for the Nazi general.

Meyer was whisked across Southern England by automobile in utmost secrecy to board the Aquitania bound for Canada while hundreds of wives and children of Canadian servicemen slept in the ship's cabins, it was disclosed today.

Only a handful of army personnel was at Southampton pier when a three-car convoy arrived early on April 25 and the S.S. Major-General, under sentence of life imprisonment for complicity in the shooting of Canadian prisoners of war, was marched into a cabin deep in the hold.

The man who formerly led an S.S. (Elite Guard) division in the German army traveled in quarters considered unfit for the wives and children.

Ottawa's instructions on Meyer arrived only a few hours before the Canadian escort ordered Meyer out of Headley Down detention barracks in Hampshire and started for Southampton.

SYDNEY, Australia (CP). — Big game fishing will be resumed off the coast of New South Wales this season for the first time since 1939. In that season, Dr. D. C. Maitland, of Sydney, established a world's record by landing a 100-pound blue-pointer shark on light tackle.

Says Communism Greatest Enemy

"The unification of Anglo-Saxondom, and the closest possible unity of purpose in action between the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States of America is certain in the not distant future," Rev. E. J. Springett, Dominion commissioner of British-Israel World Federation (Canada) told an audience at First Baptist Church on [illegible]

Mr. Springett declared that "Communism is the greatest menace to Christian civilization, and Anglo-Saxondom is faced with the final opportunity to make itself worthy of its heritage."

Urging his audience to manifest a militant Christianity, Mr. Springett contrasted "the red-hot fanaticism of the Communist" with the "lukewarmness of professing Christians."

Athletics, Tigers Divide Twin Bill

Locals Nudge Tacoma, 6-5, in 10 Innings—Tacoma Registers 17-2 Victory in Nightcap

Yesterday's scores:
Victoria 6, Tacoma 5 (10 innings).
Tacoma 17, Victoria 2.
Next game, tonight: Victoria vs. Tacoma, Royal Athletic Park, at 8.

Visiting Tacoma Tigers and Victoria Athletics broke even in yesterday's Western International Baseball League twin bill played at Royal Athletic Park, with the locals taking the 10-inning matinee attraction, 6-5, and the Tigers shellacking the A's, 17-2, in the nightcap.

Feature of the afternoon game was the fourth-inning grandslam homer by Ed Murphy, Athletics' centre-fielder, while the highlights of the evening game were the two-hit pitching performance of Ritchie Colombo, Tigers' hurler, and the power of the Tacoma bats.

Manager Laurel Harney paraded three hurlers — Ralph Bruno, Leo Jones and Rudy Biale—to the mound in an effort to halt the rampaging Tigers, but the Tacomas hit everything thrown their way and collected 18 base knocks, a number of them for extra bases.

The situation was quite the reverse as far as the Tacoma pitching was concerned, with the A's finding trouble with the offerings of young Ritchie Colombo, who came up with a smart two-hit performance.

ED MURPHY

Athletics' lone two runs came in the second frame and were the first markers in what gave every indication of being a good ball game. Tacoma got one back in the third, but the real trouble started in the fifth when they pushed across seven markers. Tigers added five more in the seventh, three in the eighth and one in the ninth.

Dick Kemper, Tacoma catcher, paced the visitors' attack, poking out four safeties in five trips, including three doubles.

Catcher Les Mulcahy and Left-fielder Bob Cherry were the only A's to collect a base hit for the locals.

ATHLETICS CAPTURE AFTERNOON FIXTURE

Athletics nudged the Tigers, 6-5, in the ten-inning matinee attraction, with Centre-Fielder Ed Murphy's big bat providing most of the scoring punch for the Victoria team.

Murphy, who played a brilliant game throughout, drove across five of the six Victoria runs, with four of them coming in the fourth inning when the A's fly shagger connected for a grand-slam circuit blow over the Pembroke Street fence.

A's showed plenty of fight in twice coming from behind to take the odd-run decision from the visiting Tacoma Tigers and knot their seven-game series at 1-1.

Faced with a 4-0 deficit at the end of the opening frame, Athletics were clouted right back in the ball game by Ed Murphy's grand-slam homer in the fourth stanza. Victoria took the lead for the first time when they scored a singleton in the eighth, but the Tigers came back with the tying marker in their half of the ninth.

A's opened the last half of the tenth inning with successive singles by Frank Cirimele, Walt Raimondi and Ed Murphy to load the sacks. Leo Lowe, the next batter, hit a grounder to Shortstop Roy Peterson, and when the Tacoma infielder bobbled the ball Cirimele raced over the plate with the winning run and the ball game was over.

"Cannonball" Jensen, husky right-hander, opened on the mound for the A's, but did not stay around very long. The big fellow had control trouble and after giving up three base hits and walking in a run in two-thirds of an inning he went to the showers in favor of Al Raimondi.

Displaying a good exhibition on the slab and giving the Tigers very few good pitches, Raimondi went the route, yielding only four scattered base knocks and a single run.

Jack Jimmink paraded to the mound for the Tigers and lasted for three and two-third innings. A's four-run attack in the fourth, capped off with Murphy's grand-slam homer, finished Jimmink's pitching chores for the afternoon. He was nicked for seven safeties and four runs during his stay on the hillock.

Bob Hedington took over in the fourth and finished the game for the Tigers. He was nicked for six base hits and two runs.

In addition to displaying plenty of power at the plate, Murphy pulled off the best fielding play of the game with a perfect throw to the plate in the eighth frame to cut off a run and check a Tacoma uprising.

Scores of other W.I.B.L. games played last night follow:

Yakima 1, Vancouver 3
Spokane 9, Salem 10
Wenatchee 8, Bremerton 1.

Toast and Tea

By J. V. McAREE

WRITING of the Press in England today and in the war years, Mr. George Orwell, who seems given perhaps to some extreme views, says: "Any writer or journalist who wants to retain his integrity finds himself thwarted by the general drift of society, rather than by active persecution. The sort of things that are working against him are the concentration of the Press in the hands of a few rich men, the grip of monopoly on radio and the films, the unwillingness of the public to spend money on books, making it necessary for nearly every writer to earn part of his living by hackwork, and the encroachment of bodies like the M.O.I. and the British Council, which help the writer to keep alive but also waste his time and dictate his opinions, and the continuous war atmosphere of the past ten years, whose distorting effect no one has been able to escape. Everything in our age conspires to turn the writer, and every other kind of artist as well, into a minor official, working on themes handed to him from above and never telling what seems to him the whole of the truth."

Athletics, Tigers Battle Tonight in Fourth Ball Game

WITH their current seven-game series standing at 2-1 in favor of the visitors, Tacoma Tigers and Victoria Athletics, Western International Baseball League nines, will meet tonight at Royal Athletic Park in the fourth contest. "Cannonball" Jensen, who registered 19 strikeouts in turning back Wenatchee Chiefs in the first series of the season, will parade to the hillock for the A's. "Chuck" Greenlaw, winning pitcher in Tuesday's game, looms as the probable hurling choice for the Tigers. A's pitching staff was strengthened yesterday with the arrival of George Babich, former Sacramento southpaw, who started the season with Spokane Indians. Babich played first base for the Athletics in yesterday's twin bill, replacing the injured Hardy Mollath, A's regular first sacker. Locals outhit the Tigers to take the matinee attraction, but could do little with the slants of Ritchie Colombo in the nightcap. However, Laurel Harney, Victoria manager, is confident the boys can climb back in the win column tonight at the expense of the Tigers.

Nelson to Meet British Pro in 36-Hole Match

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP).—Richard Burton, British open champion who recently expressed doubt concerning Byron Nelson's low scores, has accepted an invitation to meet the American pro golf titleholder in a 36-hole match, Elmer Ward said today.

Ward, sponsor of the Goodall round robin tourney last week offered to pay all of Burton's expenses plus a bonus if the British champion would come to the United States for a match with Nelson.

Eighteen holes of the match will be played on the Winged Foot course in Westchester County, New York, on Wednesday, May 29, with the last half of the duel carded for the following day. That also will be the first round of the Goodall round robin, and Burton will continue in that event against 15 of the top pro golfers in the United States.

CARPET BOWLING

The presentation of the Byng Shield to the winning rink in the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League, and the cups and prizes won at the annual tournament, will be made at the United Carpet Bowling Club, 2053 Fort Street on Saturday, May 4 at 8 p.m. A whist tournament will follow the presentation of prizes.

Boston Setting Stiff Pace in Junior Loop

Ferriss Pitches Sixth Consecutive Win for Red Sox—Ruffing Makes Successful Debut

Boston Red Sox, going like a windswept Prairie fire, hungrily devoured the offerings of three Detroit pitchers Wednesday to defeat the American League champions 13-1 and hang up their sixth consecutive victory. In all, the fiery hose have won 12 games and lost three to date to give them a commanding position atop the junior circuit.

Dave Ferriss allowed the Bengals only four hits at Boston in winning his second game without a defeat. Two merry-go-round innings, the first and second, accounted for most of the safeties, the Sox lining up nine men at the plate in each of these frames.

While the Sox were pinning the Tiger hide to an outfield fence, the New York Yankees slammed back at Cleveland, whose Bob Feller conquered them by the no-hit route on Tuesday. The Yanks stacked up nine hits at Yankee Stadium Wednesday to win 6-3. It was the first victory of the season for veteran Red Ruffing, making his 21st American League start. The old master went the distance for a four-hitter and the 266th victory of his career.

Tommy Henrich batted in four runs on Ruffing's behalf, with a single and his second homer of the year.

In the other American league game played Sam Chapman slammed out his fourth home run of the season and his second in two days, with no one out and the score tied 2-2 in the ninth frame to give Philadelphia Athletics a 3-2 triumph over St. Louis Browns at Philadelphia. The Athletics were down 3-1 at the end of the seventh but tied it up in the eighth on Pinch-Hitter Bruce Konopka's triple and a long fly by Peek.

GREGG HURLS DODGERS INTO FIRST PLACE TIE

In the National League the Brooklyn Dodgers broke out with a rash of base hits that shelled three Chicago pitchers off the mound while their own Hal Gregg was rationing the Chicago Cubs sparingly to take a 5-1 victory and even the current series at a game each. The victory put the Dodgers in a tie for first place with St. Louis Cardinals.

"Dem bums" broke out with no less than 10 hits, including three doubles. Gregg gave a chilled crowd of 10,928 at Chicago a smart exhibition allowing six singles and no passes.

Another returning serviceman showed his stuff at Pittsburgh where Isaac (Ike) Pearson made his first start after three war years with the United States Marines. He hurled five-hit ball as Philadelphia hammered out an 8-0 triumph over the sagging Pittsburgh Pirates before 4,426 fans. The big right-hander was never in trouble while his mates backed him up with an 11-hit assault on three buc hurlers.

The Boston at Cincinnati game was rained out and New York at St. Louis was postponed because of wet grounds.

Monarch Forward Signs With Leafs

TORONTO, May 1 (CP).—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League announced today that Harry Taylor, brilliant forward of Winnipeg Monarchs, has been signed to a professional contract. Last night, Tod (Sudden Death) Sloan, high-scoring St. Michael's College forward, was signed.

Sloan and Taylor were the high point-getters for their teams in the recent Memorial Cup series won by Monarchs. Managing Director Conny Smythe of Maple Leaf Gardens said it was planned the two eventually would form part of another "kid line" as made famous by the Charlie Conacher-Joe Primeau-Busher Jackson combination of other days.

Gee Walker, Geraghty Released by Solons

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 1 (AP).—The Sacramento Baseball Club of the Pacific Coast League today announced the release of Gerald "Gee" Walker, veteran outfielder, and Ben Geraghty, infielder. Walker, 39, was acquired last Winter as a free agent. He was in the majors for 16 years, enjoying his biggest year in 1934, when he batted .354 for the championship Detroit Tigers.

Canadian Entry Is Doubtful Starter

Wee Admiral to Be Scratched From Derby If Track Is Unfavorable—In Earnest Out

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1 (CP).—Canadian hopes that the Dominion will be represented in the 1946 Kentucky Derby were dampened today when Trainer Arthur Brent announced that if the Churchill Downs track is muddy or sloppy for Saturday's run for the roses, Wee Admiral will not go to the post.

Thus, if the track does not dry by Saturday, the chestnut colt owned by R. S. McLaughlin, of Oshawa, Ont., will not be one of the 18 thoroughbreds now listed as definite starters.

Scratching of Wee Admiral would disappoint many Canadian backers of the well-liked son of War Admiral who is rated at odds of 35 to 1.

Should Wee Admiral be scratched, Canadian interest in Saturday's race will centre on two veteran jockeys, products of Dominion tracks. Toronto's Ted Atkinson is to ride Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's Perfect Bahram, one of the favorites, while Johnny Longden, the former Alberta coal miner, will be astride Spy Song, R. J. Kleberg's 4-to-1 entry.

Longden, who left his Taber home in 1927 to race thoroughbreds to victories on the Western Canadian circuit, has been one of the top jockeys on the American turf for more than a decade. Longden won the Derby in 1943 while piloting Count Fleet to the triple crown—the Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes—that year.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1 (AP).—In Earnest, an 8 to 1 Winter-book favorite for the Kentucky Derby, today was declared officially out of Saturday's big race at Churchill Downs.

Owner Warren Wright decided to withdraw the horse after a conference with Trainer Ben Jones who was disappointed with In Earnest's seventh-place finish in the One-Mile Derby Trial here yesterday. Jones said the horse was losing weight and appeared to have "tailed off" in training.

Mrs. Vera Bragg's Mist o' Gold officially was declared out yesterday after coming down with fever. This leaves just 18 steppers still more or less sure of being on hand for the big race.

The decision eliminated Jones' chances of saddling his fourth Derby winner. Trainer of Lawrin in 1938, Whirlaway in '41 and Pensive two years ago, a victory this time would have moved the Missouri magician of the race track up even with Derby Dick Thompson's all-time mark in the record book.

The immediate result made things look more comfortable for Lord Boswell and Knockdown, Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's choice gallopers in this first $100,000 Derby.

Millions Bid In Auction of Suffolk Downs

BOSTON, May 1 (AP).—After a breath-taking 10-minute battle of millions against six rival groups, John C. Pappas, wealthy Boston liquor importer, had the controlling interest in Boston's Suffolk Downs horse racing track knocked down to him for $3,600,000 today during a Federal Court-directed auction.

Pappas acted as spokesman for a group that includes his brother Thomas, William Helis, New Orleans millionaire horseman, and J. Arthur Warner, Boston-New York stock broker.

The acquisition must be confirmed by Federal Court Friday.

After posting $100,000 along with the other bidders, Pappas made the first offer of $1,500,000.

San Franciscan Bill Kyne, general manager of the Bay Meadows track, retired after bidding $2,500,000 and only two others remained in the contention when Pappas hit the $3,000,000 mark.

Joseph F. Timilty, former Boston police commissioner, who represented another large Boston syndicate, then challenged Pappas and they worked the price up to $3,510,000.

Pappas' last challenge came when Paul A. Dever, former Massachusetts attorney-general, acting for Henry Simberg, wealthy Boston ice cream manufacturer, raised the price to $3,550,000 and then remained silent as the auctioneer uttered the traditional call "Going, going, gone," after Pappas had boosted the price another $50,000.

AUSSIE PLAYER WINS

BOURNEMOUTH, England, May 1 (CP).—Jack Harper, Australian tennis star, today defeated Henry Billington, Davis Cup doubles player, 6-2, 4-6, 6-0, in the quarter-finals of the British hard courts tournament.

Competition Tough For Organized Ball In Mexican League

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, May 1 (AP).—The Mexican National League today announced reorganization as a four-club circuit, including El Paso, Texas; Juares, Chihuahua and Saltillo.

Players of Mexico City and Torreon, who dropped out because they couldn't meet competition of Jorge Pasquel's Mexican League, were distributed among the remaining teams.

No-Hit Games Still Rarity

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP).—Now that it has become difficult to visit a ball park without running into a no-hit, no run game, the question naturally arises, "How good a trick is it, anyway?"

The answer is that a no-hitter still is the supreme event of baseball, even though Ed Head, of Brooklyn Dodgers, and Bob Feller, of Cleveland, have somewhat flooded the market with a pair of them in a week's time.

The odds are against there being another no-hitter this season, even though the campaign is only three weeks old. The last time there were three in a year was in 1938 when Johnny Vandermeer, of Cincinnati, hurled two in succession and Monte Pearson, of the Yanks, victimized Cleveland.

The rarest of all is the "perfect" game, in which a pitcher does not permit an opposing batter to reach first base and faces the minimum of 27 batters. From 1880 until now there have been six such lollapaloozas, the last of them pitched in 1922 by Charley Robertson, of Chicago White Sox, against Detroit. Others credited with the ultimate feat are Cy Young, Addie Joss, Ernie Shore, John Ward and John Lee Richmond, the last two in 1880.

N.W. Regatta To Be Resumed

WINNIPEG, May 1 (CP). — The Northwest International Rowing Association is expected to hold its first postwar regatta here in late July or early August, Con Riley Jr., said here following his return from a meeting of the association held at St. Paul, Minn.

The last regatta was held at St. Paul in 1939. The 1940 regatta was slated for Winnipeg but was cancelled for the duration of the war.

Membership in the association includes boat clubs from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Fort William, Regina, Kenora and Winnipeg.

Panic Neurosis

By Dr. J. B. WARREN

Due to any sudden happening—earthquake, fire, explosions, shipwrecks—develop in many a fear neurosis. This fear acts on the mind in such a way that the individual is not his true self or normal self. His fear looms so large in his life that he becomes unduly or senselessly excited and unable to perform the ordinary duties of his life or business. If we pause to consider the situation most of us would take possession of our emotions and act our true selves.

Unique Exhibition of Art Of China Opens at Empress

Combining the technique of East and West, the Chinese paintings now on exhibit at the Empress Hotel are fascinating not only to the initiate but to the general public as well.

Mrs. W. C. Woodward wife of the Lieutenant-Governor, by whom the exhibit was opened, complimenting the sponsors on making it possible for Victorians to see this excellent collection. Miss Sara Spencer, a patroness of the event, also welcomed the visitors and spoke of the high quality of the work. Mrs. D. L. McLaurin, president of the University Women's Club, which is sponsoring the week's exhibition, introduced the speakers. Proceeds go to European relief.

Lau Wing Siu, owner of the collection, interpreting Chinese painting said that Kao Weng had been the greatest of Chinese painters. Though he died in 1933 at the age of 42, he had found time to produce canvases which showed great creative power, and won him world-wide recognition.

The objective of painting was to give a clear and comprehensive vision of the spirit and history of the times, he commented. Kao Weng, therefore, had studied sociology and history, and then gone to Italy and France to study the best of Occidental painting, so that his work would meet the test, Mr. Lau stated.

Noteworthy in the collection is the remarkable painting "Roaring China," which through a lifelike lion springing from a rocky ledge, shows the spirit of the nation.

Painted when the Japanese invaded Manchuria, it radiates a rare vitality in the stern jaw, the flashing eyes and the supple body. One connoisseur had offered 30,000 for the painting, Mr. Lau stated, but the canvas was not for sale.

Another original and thoughtful painting of the master, "Longevity and Loftiness," shows a turbulent torrent flowing past a steep cliff to which clings a gnarled old tree. The symbolism is apparent in the name, and in China flowing water represents long life and high ideals.

"Long Growl," aptly named painting of a sinewy tiger, is the work of Miss Chang K'un-i, adopted daughter and pupil of Kao Weng. Painted in New York in 1941, it represents a stirring call to arms to the Chinese people, and is done with a lithe grace and a hint of menace.

More delicate and charming is the softly-colored picture of lovebirds sunning themselves. And another arresting canvas is the "White Phoenix," embodying the ephemeral loveliness of the bird against a drab rugged rock.

DEMONSTRATES ART OF ANCIENT CHINESE

Yesterday Mr. Lau Wing Sui explained that in China painters aimed at a high standard. They must not only paint but also master the related art of calligraphy. Paintings were not complete without a line or two of picture writing in the artist's own particular style and expressing his inward emotions.

Miss Chang K'un-i demonstrated the art on white silk for the benefit of visitors to the exhibition. Choosing from her fine collection of brushes, she showed how heavy or light lines skilfully done could express as much as the tones and half-tones of music.

Wednesday afternoon the Local Council of Women sponsored the showing. Mrs. F. H. Parsons, president, and Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, president of the Provincial Council, welcomed visitors.
